G.M., Union Talks
DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers and General Motors, striving to wrap up their contract and return the company to full production, resumed bargaining on a hopeful note today.

Negotiators had a little more than 24 hours in which to achieve agreement or face the possibility of a nationwide walkout of G.M.'s 350,000 workers.

Clergymen Released
JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Thirteen of the 15 Episcopal clergymen jailed on breach of peace desegregation convictions were released on $500 bond today. The Rev. Robert L. Pierson of New York, son-in-law of New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, said the clergymen were arrested because they "have been engaged in a pilgrimage of prayer to testify to the nature of the Christian church. We cannot submit to the immoral laws which demand that we separate racially."

Clay Lands In Berlin
BERLIN (UPI) — Gen. Lucius D. Clay, hero of the 1948-49 blockade, flew into Berlin today as President John F. Kennedy's personal representative with the promise that the city will remain free in the face of new Communist threats. Clay returned here to help map Western strategy for the defense of Berlin. He received a triumphal welcome.

Filibuster Vote
WASHINGTON (AP) — A session-end effort to strengthen the Senate's filibuster rule was dropped today when an attempt to limit debate on the move was defeated. (See story page 2.) By a 47-35 vote, the Senate tabled and thus killed a motion to consider a new rule that would have permitted filibusters to be choked off by three-fifths of the senators present and voting. The Senate then turned to consideration of a new voting law for the District of Columbia.

Juvenile Crime Fight
SACRAMENTO (AP) — California launched a new effort against juvenile crime today with appointment of a seven-member delinquency prevention commission. Herman G. Stark, director of the Department of the Youth Authority, named John W. Greene, a retired Los Angeles business executive and civic leader, chairman of the commission.

Bridge Study Urged
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — O. R. Doerr, president of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, said today directors of the Golden Gate Bridge should reconsider "and allow an impartial board of experts to make a definitive study of the bridge's capacity to support rapid transit." Doerr added in a statement: "A team of neutral consulting engineers, which would comprise an authoritative board of review in determining the feasibility of the bridge in this regard, is a logical step if progress is to be made in the overall transit goals for the San Francisco Bay Area, in general, and Marin County in particular."

Board To Meet On Officials' Pay
Marin County supervisors Monday set for Dec. 11 a hearing on salaries of elected officials, after receiving a letter from County Counsel E. Warren McGuire on the subject. In response to questions which had been put to him McGuire reported that salaries "relate to the office" and must be established in advance of election, not taking into consideration whether a candidate has had previous service. McGuire also said salaries must be set by ordinance rather than resolution, involving an issue of time before election which had bearing on choice of the Dec. 11 date.

ANTI-BLAIR PETITIONS QUALIFY

Election Likely Will Be Held In Early December

Petitions to force an election for the recall of Supervisor J. Walter Blair have qualified, and the election will probably be held about Dec. 5, County Clerk George S. Jones disclosed today.

The Recall Blair Committee last week turned in 3,157 names on the petitions, of which 2,476 valid signatures were needed to validate. County Clerk Jones put his staff to work Friday, checking the names, and found the necessary 2,476 valid signatures. Yesterday morning, his crew completed checking the rest of the names, Jones said there was more than the necessary number of valid names on the petition.

Jones intends to submit the petition to the County Board of Supervisors for certification next Monday. He will recommend to the supervisors that the election date be Tuesday, Dec. 5. The law requires that a recall election be held not less than 70 nor more than 75 days after certification to the board of supervisors (in this case, 71 days).

A majority vote in the Third Supervisorial District is needed to recall Supervisor Blair. On the same ballot will be a list of candidates running for the office. In the event Blair is ousted, then the votes for the other candidates on the same ballot will be counted, and the one receiving the most votes will become the new supervisor.

Mill Valley attorney and former City Councilman Peter Behr is the only one who has publicly announced he intends to run for the supervisor's post. The county clerk said, however, that he has heard of two others who are also interested.

Speaker Vote For Assembly Set Sept. 30

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly Rules Committee today tentatively agreed to summon members of the lower house to an unprecedented caucus Sept. 30 to elect a new speaker.

At the same time it was announced that the State Commission on Judicial Appointments had approved the nomination of Assembly Speaker Ralph M. Brown (D, Modesto) to the new Fifth District Court of Appeals in Fresno. Brown's resignation from the Assembly opens the vacancy in the speakership and leads to the unprecedented caucus.

The committee planned to meet later in the day to make a final decision on the special meeting.

Two Democrats, Assemblyman Jesse Unruh of Los Angeles and Gordon Winton of Merced, are contending for the job, the second most powerful in the state government.

One committee member, Assemblyman Jack Schrade (R-El Cajon) made it clear the wasn't supporting Unruh. But he said the speaker should be elected by a secret ballot "because I don't think pressure should be put on anyone."

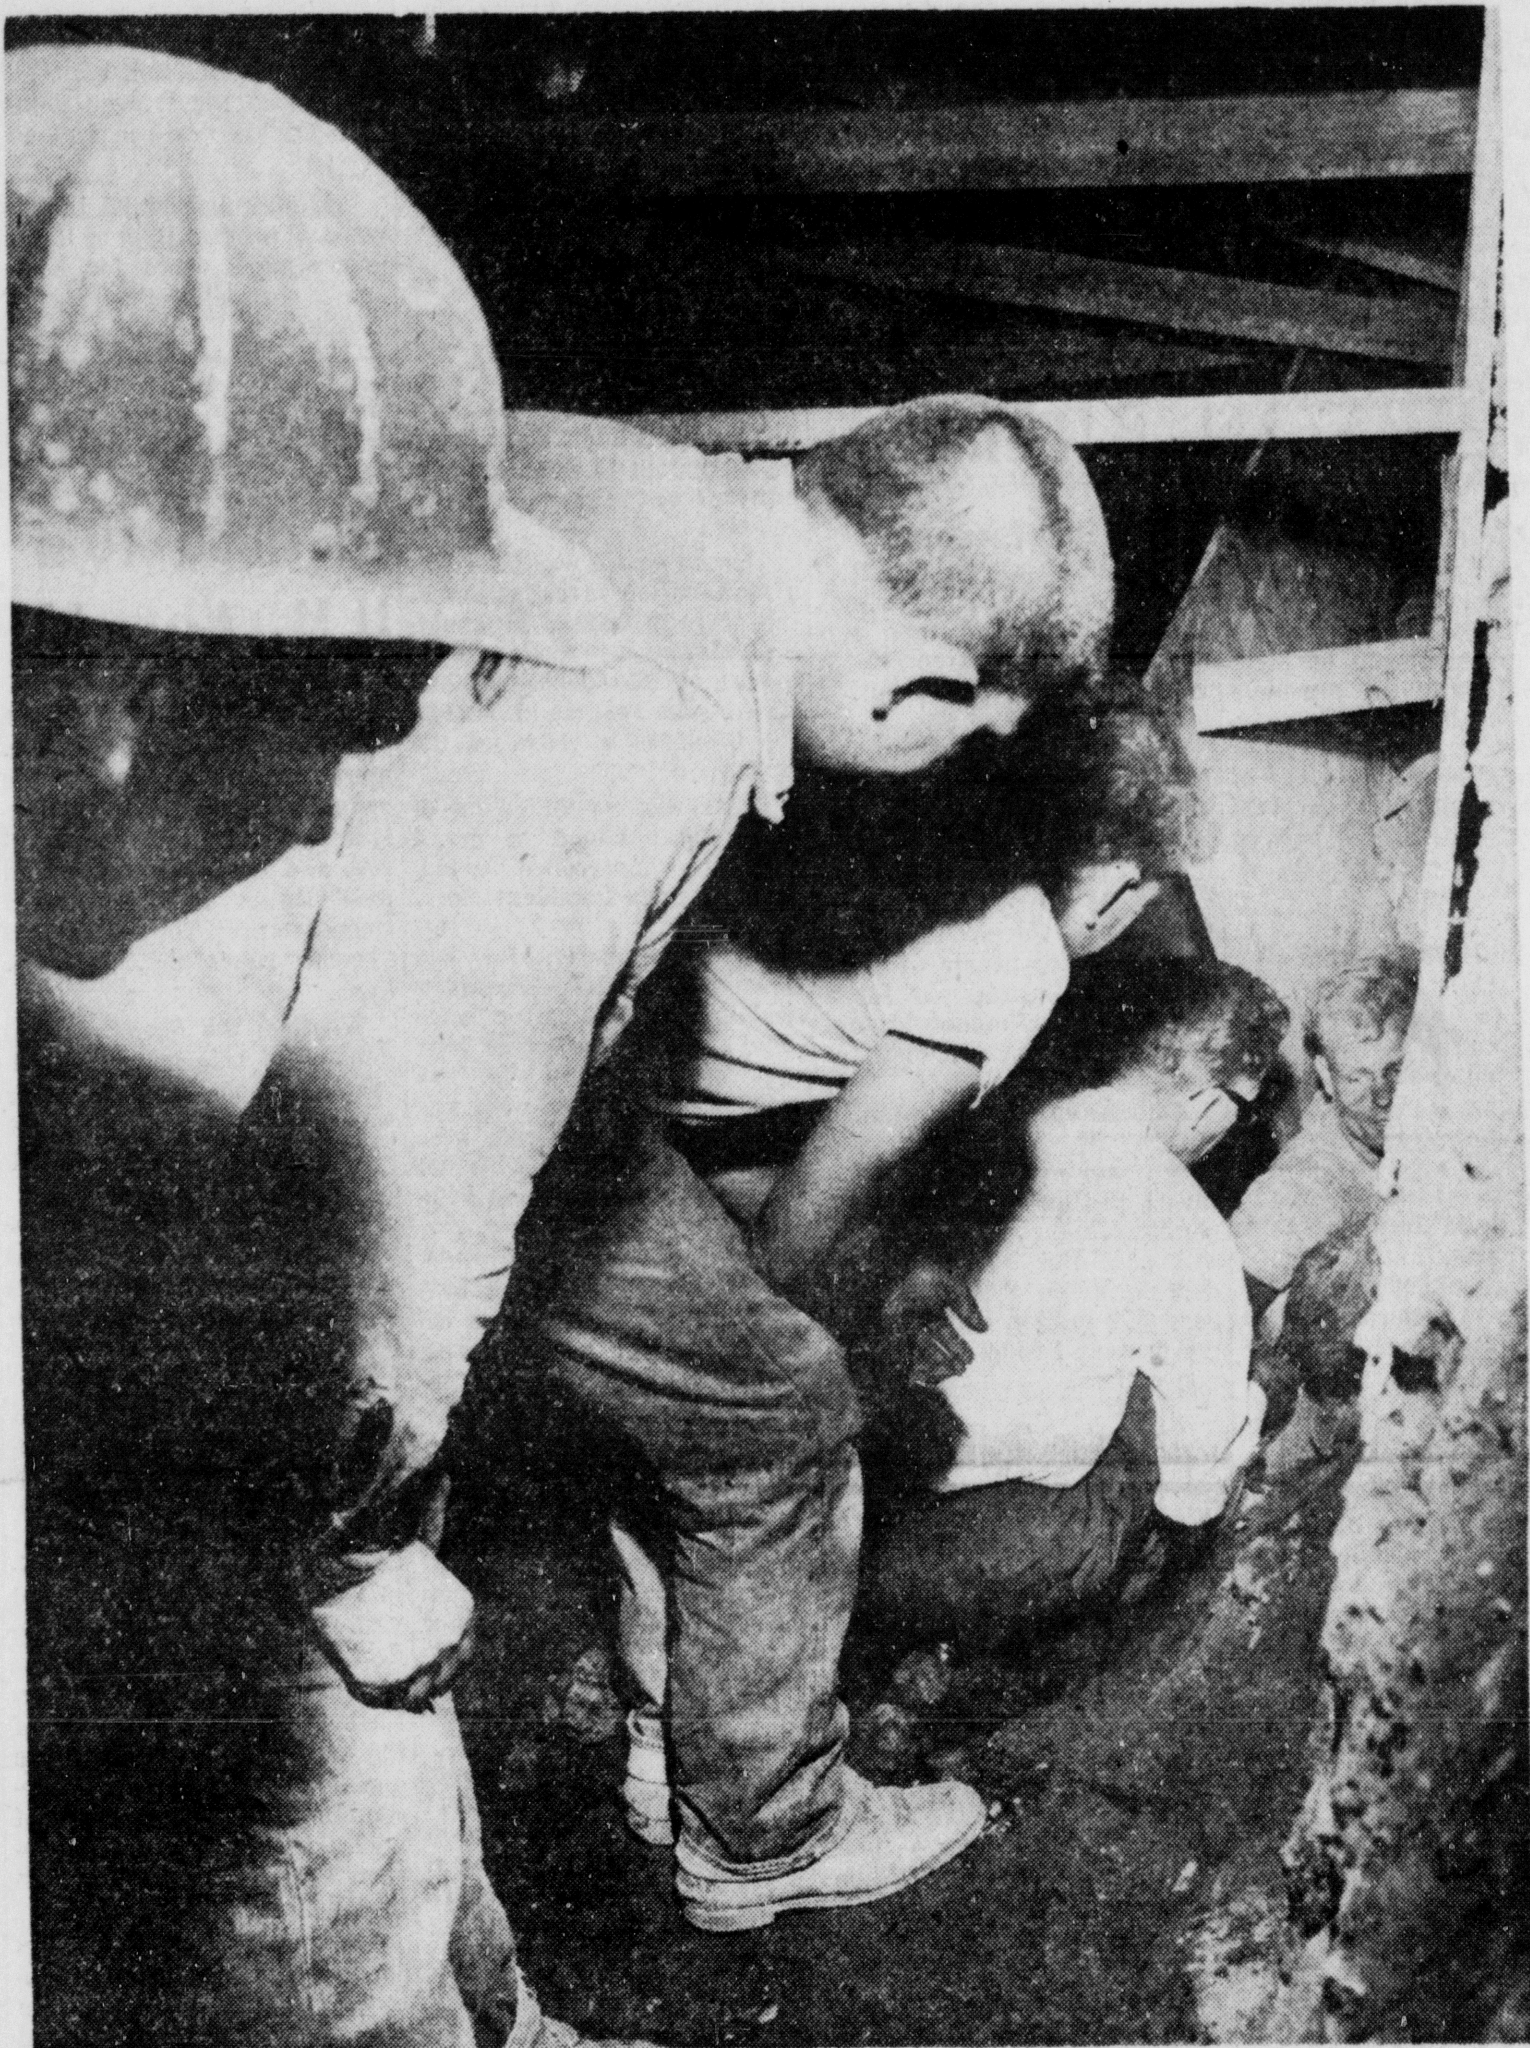

Legislative Counsel Ralph Kleps said he would rule on whether the ballot should be open or closed. He did rule that 41 votes would be necessary to elect a speaker even though 40 votes appeared to be a majority because of the vacancy in the 80-man lower house caused by Brown's resignation.

Two Trench Workers Die In Cave-In, Third Man Is Freed After Two Hours

Ditch Collapses Near Taylor Park

MOMENT OF VICTORY — After more than two hours of labor in removing tons of dirt and rocks, rescuers free James Brewer from caved-in Marin Municipal Water District tunnel near Tocaloma. Brewer is seen partially out from under the cave-in.

He had been kept alive by oxygen fed from rescuer tanks through a garden hose. Two fellow workers, Thomas E. Burchfield and Dee Henry Bradshaw, died in the cave-in. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

Two Marin construction workers died late yesterday in the cave-in of a Marin Municipal Water District trench at a construction site one-half mile west of Samuel P. Taylor State Park. A third worker trapped with them, was brought out alive two hours 5 minutes after the cave-in.

Killed were:
Dee Henry Bradshaw, 42, carpenter foreman of 330 Grandview Road, Black Point, employed by Don Presco, San Rafael contractor.
Thomas E. Burchfield, 26, laborer, of 172 Belvedere Street, San Rafael, employed by Holtzinger Brothers of Larkspur, excavation contractors.
Brought out was Jamie Brewer, 21, of 508-B Spring Street, Sausalito, carpenter employed by Presco.

GOOD CONDITION
Brewer was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital, with no major injury.

Witnesses said Burchfield, who had been told not to join the two others at carpentry work, inadvertently gave his life to save Brewer.

When the tons of dirt fell in on the three in a trench 14 feet deep and four feet wide as they tried to shore up the sides with plywood lumber, Burchfield fell in a way that caused a boulder and a piece of plywood to protect Brewer. About three feet of earth covered them.

The many yards of dirt tumbled on the three at about 3:35 p.m. Water district officials immediately phoned the county fire department at Woodacre and Marin Ambulance at Larkspur.

Asst. Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom and Fire Capt. Lorin Hall sped to the scene with a rescuer. Marin Ambulance stopped on the way to pick up Dr. Theodore D. Hiatt of Marin General Hospital.

AIR FED IN
With a garden hose from Marin Ambulance, two county fire department rescuers were used in relay to feed air to the trapped Brewer.

Under direction of James Vitek, water district construction inspector, Asst. Fire Chief Bloom took charge of the rescue.

Bloom said at first two trench excavating machines were used to remove some of the dirt. This effort was abandoned for hand shovels when it was feared the heavy equipment would cause further cave-ins.

WORK WITH SHOVELS
Ten men at a time worked with shovels, passing the dirt from shovel to shovel. Each crew would work about 10 minutes and then be relieved, Bloom said.

Sheriff's deputies, firemen and water district employees joined the crews of the two contractors in the rescue. The trench was being dug to lay a new pipeline from Nicasio Dam through San Geronimo Valley to a new water district pumping station being built.

"When we got the dirt cleared away as far as his hips, Brewer complained of pain in his back and legs," Bloom said. "Dr. Hiatt then gave him See CAVE-IN, page 7"

On-The-Scene Account Of Cave-In Ordeal

(Editor's note: Dan White of radio KTIM was the first reporter on the scene yesterday when a trench cave-in trapped three men near Tocaloma. He helped in the rescue operation before making a tape-recording for broadcast. Here is his story.

By DAN WHITE
KTIM Reporter

When I arrived at the scene of what I had been told was a ditch-cave-in, just north of the Tocaloma Bridge in West Marin, I was directed to the scene by a workman who said all he knew was that "three men were trapped in a ditch and possibly dead."

Arriving about 10 minutes before me was Marin Ambulance Service. Attendants had taken a garden hose which they attached to an oxygen tank from the ambulance and worked the hose down into a small opening into the caved-in culvert ditch. It was this that kept the one survivor alive.

We were told that the two walls of the ditch had been held up by plywood walls and cross-braces, and that the plywood had buckled, trapping all three workers beneath the wood and great masses of dirt.

The voice of one worker, an 18-year-old apprentice carpenter, could be heard through the covering. However it took rescuers with shovels two hours and five minutes to remove enough dirt to reach him. Meanwhile, Marin County Fire Chief Charles R. Reilly and Asst. Chief Louis Bloom assisted Marin Ambulance attendants in getting oxygen to the man, using four tanks of oxygen before he was freed about 5:35 p.m.

During this tense period of waiting and wondering, a minister and a doctor stood by near the edge of the ditch.

HAMMARSKJOLD DUE SWEDEN STATE FUNERAL

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Sweden, in national mourning for the death of Dag Hammarskjold, is planning to give him a state funeral government sources said today. The last state funeral was held in 1896 for Louis De Geer, a politician of the late 19th Century.

King Gustaf V Adolf ordered 24 hours of mourning and the lowering of the flag on top of the royal palace, the first time it ever has been flown at half staff for a commoner.

Hurricane Is Bearing Down On N. Carolina

WILMINGTON, N.C. (UPI) — Hurricane Esther bore down on North Carolina today with 150 mile an hour winds, and residents of the low-lying outer banks islands were warned to flee.

The storm, with gusts "considerably higher" than 150 miles an hour, was expected to begin brushing the extreme eastern part of North Carolina early tonight, and to hit solidly late tomorrow.

Teamsters Strike Hits Marin Stores

Produce deliveries to Safeway and Lucky Stores in Marin County were halted today by a strike of 250 East Bay teamsters.

Howard Phillips, division manager of Lucky Stores, said negotiations were in progress today but that the situation had not changed since the Teamsters walked out yesterday.

Safeway spokesmen were not available for comment. The strike affects 170 Bay Area stores. Lucky Stores said they were giving away perishable produce to charitable organizations so they could be used before they spoil.

Under negotiation were questions of wages, health and welfare plan issues and other fringe benefits, a Lucky spokesman said.

Deliveries of market items other than produce continued to be made to the struck stores.

Moon Site Picked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Space Agency today picked Houston, Tex., as the site of a 60-million-dollar laboratory which will serve as "command center" for manned flights to the moon in this decade and to the planets later.

HEAVY VOTER TURNOUT IN MARINWOOD

In a tremendously heavy turnout, about one-third of the registered voters in Marinwood Community Services District already had cast their votes by noon today in an election to decide whether a $405,000 community center-recreation bond issue shall be authorized.

The issue would require a two-thirds favorable vote.

At noon, 393 votes had been cast at Lucas Valley School, the sole polling place. The poll will remain open until 7 p.m. There are between 1,100 and 1,200 registered voters.

If authorized, the bond issue is to finance a community building, firehouse, playgrounds, and swimming pool with bathroom. Maximum cost of retiring the bonds, based on 7 per cent interest, has been figured at about $30 for the average Marinwood house. Lower interest is expected to cut this considerably. Maintenance would be financed from the community services district's $1 tax rate, with fees charged for use of the pool.

Soviets Ask U.N. Seating Of Red China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union formally moved today for the seating of Communist China in the United Nations.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko requested that the 99-nation General Assembly place on its agenda a question titled: "Restoration of the lawful rights of the People's Republic of China in the United Nations."

The assembly, scheduled to convene today, is expected to give the China question a full airing, after 10 years of postponements. But it is unlikely that the problem will be taken up under the controversial title proposed by the Soviet Union.

Informed quarters said the United States would not oppose a China debate this year.

Doctor Advises Blair To Take To His Bed

J. Walter Blair, county supervisor from Southern Marin, took to his bed today with a respiratory ailment.

Blair, for whose recall petitions were qualified today by the county clerk's office, was advised by his physician to either go to bed at home or enter a hospital. He chose to remain at his Mill Valley home.

Congress Shooting For Bills Cleanup, And Adjournment

On Tap Is Peace Corps Measure; Postal Rate Hike Appear Dead

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President John F. Kennedy's peace corps bill and his request for more aid to health clinics and nursing homes neared final passage today in a Congress shooting for adjournment.

Democratic leaders also called up for expected House approval of the president's proposal to create a new disarmament or arms control agency. Similar legislation already has passed the Senate. It ranks high on the president's "must" list.

But chances had all but disappeared for enactment this year of any of the postal rate increases sought by the president. This was so despite the fact that Congress yesterday approved pay increases for postal workers that would add 60.8 million dollars to the $31-million-dollar postal deficit.

Prospects for final congressional passage of any postal rate increase this year were so remote that rank-and-file Democrats might get the president's congressional lieutenants to jettison the legislation without a House floor fight.

The Senate was heading today for a showdown vote on an apparently predestined attempt to tighten its rules against filibusters.

House action was all that remained to complete final passage of the administration's proposal to expand federal grants to states for medical research and health facilities. The measure was relatively non-controversial, although it would authorize outlays for these purposes to be raised to 420 million dollars over the next five years.

Congressional leaders still were hoping for final adjournment of Congress Friday or Saturday. Saturday was beginning to look more likely than Friday. One big problem was a foreign aid appropriation on which House-Senate conferees won't even start work until Thursday.

In its rush to adjourn, the Senate and House passed a raft of bills and resolutions yesterday. They ranged from a bill requiring the postmaster general to alert the public to "large quantities of Communist propaganda" from abroad to one extending anti-espionage laws to cover offenses committed by Americans in foreign countries.

Other developments: Schools—The House yesterday sent to the White House a 900-million-dollar school aid bill containing not one of Kennedy's major proposals. All that remained was extension of aid to schools crowded by children of federal employees and the National Defense Education Act.

Officials Carry On Effort To Bring Peace In Congo

Rumor Of Hostile Action On Dag Plane Discounted, Probe Starts

NDOLA, Northern Rhodesia (UPI)—United Nations officials carried on today in an effort to bring about a cease fire in Katanga, the peace mission for which U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld gave his life in a flaming plane crash yesterday.

While the body of the 56-year-old Swedish diplomat rested in a lead-lined coffin in Ndola hospital, the peace effort for the Congo went on a few miles away.

Mahmoud Khari of Tunisia, a top U.N. expert on the Congo, arrived here by plane from Leopoldville to "go ahead immediately" with cease-fire plans, a spokesman said.

Khari's plane, a DC-6 similar to the one in which Hammarskjöld and 12 others died in a shattering crash into a line of trees seven miles from Ndola airport, flew in under escort of three royal Rhodesian Air Force planes.

Despite the fact the lone survivor of the 14 persons on Hammarskjöld's plane, Sgt. Harold Julian, a U.N. security guard from the United States, said he heard "explosions" before the crash, this possibility was discounted here. So was the rumor that the plane may have been shot down.

Shortly before Khari arrived, a formal North Rhodesian government statement said: "There is no reason whatsoever to suspect that the crash of Hammarskjöld's aircraft can be attributed to hostile action either from the ground or from the air."

The statement was issued as a multi-nation investigation of the tragedy began, in apparent answer to reports here that a U.N. spokesman had stated sabotage could not be ruled out as a cause of the crash.

There was no indication of how Khari hoped to get a cease-fire conference going, since Katanga President Moise Tshombe flew back to his province yesterday. He had flown here to meet Hammarskjöld, but left after word came of his death. Before leaving, Tshombe said he was ready to talk peace with any competent U.N. official, save Conor Cruise O'Brien, chief U.N. representative in Elisabethville, capital of Katanga.

Sergeant Julian, meanwhile, was reported holding his own in a hospital, where he is being treated for severe burns, leg fractures and other injuries.

The question of sabotage remained high in many minds here, but there was nothing at all to support it from investigators on the scene.

Hammarskjöld, a woman U.N. secretary and 11 other men died in the wreckage. Julian was critically injured, burned over 30 per cent of his body.

The plane was only four minutes away from a landing at Ndola airport and directly in line with the runway when it crashed. The wheels had been locked down for a landing.

Woman Hurt As Car Forced Off Road

Virginia Anne Rogers, 27, of Waldo Point in Sausalito, suffered minor head injuries when her auto left the road on Tiburon Boulevard about 100 feet east of Palmer Avenue Saturday at 4:10 p.m.

Miss Rogers told highway patrol officers that her west-bound automobile was forced from the road by an oncoming vehicle which rounded a curve on the wrong side of the road. She told officers she would see her own doctor.

PRESIDENT TO SPEAK BEFORE U.N. ASSEMBLY

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Democratic and Republican congressional leaders applauded today President John F. Kennedy's decision to address the United Nations.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Senate Democratic leader, predicted Kennedy will place before the United Nations a new disarmament plan and call for fresh negotiations to end nuclear testing.

Kennedy's decision to fly to New York to address the new session of the U.N. General Assembly was announced yesterday.

The Senate and House passed a resolution expressing deep regret over Hammarskjöld's death in a plane crash.

Humphrey said he thinks it is vital in the light of Hammarskjöld's death for Kennedy to rally the West's forces.

Tunisia Envoy To Head 16th U.N. Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's death plunged the opening day of the 16th General Assembly into shock, sorrow and confusion today and gave Russia its long-awaited chance to press for a weakened "Troika" rule of the United Nations.

Whether the Soviet delegation would take immediate advantage of the opportunity or wait for a later date was not known in advance of the session.

Ambassador Frederick H. Boland of Ireland, outgoing assembly president, planned to gavel the delegates of 99 countries to order on schedule this afternoon.

He said he would go ahead with the election of the assembly's new president, Mongi Slim, senior diplomat from Tunisia. Slim was assured of election when Dr. Ali Saastromidjo of Indonesia announced yesterday that he was withdrawing as a candidate.

Hammarskjöld's death overshadowed the main business of the assembly—including the question of Red Chinese representation, the resumption of nuclear test explosions, disarmament and probably a Berlin debate.

Little was expected to be accomplished today beyond tributes to the Swedish statesman who presided over the United Nations administration for eight years and five months.

FIGHTING EASES OFF IN KATANGA

Reports That Irish, Swedish Troops Lose Northern Base Denied By U.N.

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Fighting eased off in the Katanga capital of Elisabethville with little activity in the past 24 hours, a United Nations spokesman said today.

There was no news from Jadotville, the industrial-mining town 80 miles northwest of Elisabethville, where a 155-man Irish U.N. garrison had been besieged by a large force of Katangese. Last word was that the Irish had been "overwhelmed" by the attackers.

The spokesman added that the Kamina base in North Katanga still was firmly held by U.N. forces. He denied reports from Usumbura, Ruanda-Urundi, claiming that Kamina had fallen to the Katangese and its 500 Irish and Swedish U.N. defenders had surrendered.

To the north in Albertville, the spokesman said that Indian U.N. troops dispersed attacking Katangese forces who fired small arms and mortars at the airfield. The Katangese then surrounded the U.N. hospital there, but left without interfering with the patients. One Indian was killed and another wounded and one Katangese was captured.

It was reliably learned, meanwhile, that jet fighters requested from Ethiopia to counter a pair of Katangese Air Force jets had not arrived for the U.N. force. The jets had trouble getting flight clearance and refueling permission along the way.

Katanga President Moise Tshombe vowed to lead his people "in their fight to the end" against the U.N. command. But the leader of the copper-rich break-away province said he was always ready to meet with U.N. representatives to discuss a peaceful solution.

He accused U.N. soldiers of killing 1,000 of his people, "some of them after they surrendered."

Katangese troops were reported applying pressure on the U.N. garrisons and were apparently improving their positions in some regions. The U.N. troops were reported losing ground in the former Belgian aid base of Kamina.

U.N. and other communications with the province were very erratic because many installations had been damaged or put out of working order by military action, including strafing by a Katangese jet fighter.

Red Berliners Start Campaign Of Noise

BERLIN (UPI)—The Communists have brought a new weapon into their war of nerves against West Berlin.

All along the concrete and barbed wire barriers of the divided city, they have opened up with a barrage of loudspeakers turned at full strength toward West Berlin.

They blast out propaganda, threats, scorn and flattery—interspersed with American jazz and German waltzes.

Some of the loudspeakers are mounted on trucks. Others are hung in trees overlooking the border or fixed to the boundary fence.

The loudspeakers are guarded by army patrols with sub-machine guns and hand grenades.

The Communists call this free entertainment for West

Berliners "Radio August 13." Aug. 13 was the day the East Germans sealed off West Berlin to stop the flood of refugees fleeing from Walter Ulbricht's Communist rule.

The programs usually open at 5 a.m., startling thousands of West Berliners out of their sleep. At most points, the noise continues throughout the day.

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UPI)—Vice President Juan Lechin resigned today for the second time in a week—this time "irrevocably."

The Bolivian workers Central Federation immediately announced a sympathy strike effective at midday.

He denied the charges and said he was quitting to facilitate an investigation. But congress refused to accept the resignation.

Cabinet Crisis

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI)—A Cabinet crisis in the wake of weekend executions of ousted Premier Adnan Menderes and two other deposed former ministers was resolved today.

NAPLES, Italy (UPI)—Shouts of joy resounded in Naples' Cathedral today when attendants announced that the blood of the city's patron, St. Januarius, had liquefied.

Prospect Drive Duplex Request Is Withdrawn

An application for a duplex on Prospect Drive, which had stirred up hot opposition by the Coleman Addition Property Owners Assn., was withdrawn last night.

William T. Bagley, attorney for the applicant, notified the San Rafael City Council the application was withdrawn. City Planner James Garrett said the applicant, San Rafael Associates, had filed for a building permit for a single family residence on the property.

Gregory Harrison Jr., president of the property owners group, was not entirely satisfied. He said there are eight garbage cans on the lot, used by San Rafael Associates' motel at Lincoln Avenue and Prospect. Is that a violation? he asked.

Policeman's Heroism Revealed

"A small boy is alive today because of Louis Foster."

Thus a letter received yesterday by San Rafael Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa belatedly credited Sgt. Louis Foster with saving the life of 5-year-old Gary Van Buskirk of Santa Ana on Aug. 29 while camping at Hat Creek in Lassen County.

"I doubt if Sergeant Foster told anyone of this occurrence," added the letter from Vernon G. Heaton of Woodland, a witness to the incident.

Heaton was correct. Until questioned about the matter following receipt of the letter by Chief Chiesa, none of Foster's fellow officers knew of the incident.

According to Heaton's letter, Foster and his family were camping near a waterfall when a small boy's cries for help were heard.

"The young boy apparently fell into the swift current and went over the falls. He was hanging onto some very fragile weeds on a narrow ledge. Just below him was a very deep hole about 15 feet deep and 40 feet long," Heaton's letter related.

"Sergeant Foster grabbed another man by the legs and lowered him over the bank. The two of them pulled the lad back from what certainly would have been his death."

"It's a beautiful spot. The greatest fishing in the world," said Foster when asked if he had anything to add to Heaton's account of his heroism.

San Rafael Lightly Raps Bridge Board

San Rafael city councilmen had few kind words last night for directors of the Golden Gate Bridge District.

Mayor John F. McInnis reported the bridge directors have submitted to the city copies of their resolution opposing submitting the issue of trains on the bridge to a panel of engineering experts.

"This is the responsibility of directors of the Golden Gate Bridge," said Councilman Charles W. Aby. "I see no responsibility on my part to either support them or criticize them."

"The only thing is, I can't understand their action," said Councilman David Menary Jr. "Nor can I," said Mayor John F. McInnis. "They are supposed to be representing us as a city. I don't think they gave us any consideration."

Condominium Plan For Apartments Troubles Council

Asked To Approve Proposal Where Dweller Owns Land

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The San Rafael City Council pondered last night how to handle a condominium, and found no easy answer.

A condominium is defined by Webster's New World Dictionary as (a) joint sovereignty; joint rule of a country or region by two or more states; (b) the territory so governed. The best known condominium is the island of New Hebrides in the South Pacific, jointly ruled by Great Britain and France.

But what was before the city council was a petition for approval in principle and of a preliminary map of the first condominium apartment project proposed for San Rafael. Six others will be presented shortly, the councilmen were told.

Sherrill Brody of Santa Barbara sought the approval for a 16-unit, one-story apartment project on Biscayne Drive in Marin Bay.

He explained that in a condominium apartment, each apartment dweller buys and takes title to the space he occupies. This differs from a cooperative apartment project, in which all tenants own the building and its grounds jointly, as a corporation.

A recent act of Congress has cleared the way for federally insured financing of condominium apartments, he reported. Lending institutions will now make loans to the individual apartment purchasers.

In the plan proposed for the one-story Marin Bay project, a complication arises. The plan calls for each apartment owner to also take title to the land beneath his apartment.

That, said City Atty. A. E. Bagshaw and the councilmen, constitutes a subdivision.

San Rafael ordinance forbids a subdivision of land into parcels smaller than 5,000 square feet. To approve the condominium, the city attorney held, would be to create sub-standard lots. "You can make exceptions to the minimum lot size, but the exceptions here would be so great you would destroy the ordinance," he declared.

Peter Hunt, attorney both for Sherrill Brody and Associates and for Latipac-Perini Co. in development of Marin Bay, held that the planned commercial zoning of the land would give the city adequate control against rebuilding on substandard lots.

The council, however, did not agree. Mayor John F. McInnis pointed out that the planned commercial zoning is not intended to be permanent, but is merely to enable the city to control initial development. "If the apartments burned down 30 years from now, the zoning probably wouldn't be there, but the substandard lots would be legally of record," he said.

Councilmen asked whether other cities have set up ordinances to create special zoning for such apartments. Brody said he knew of no such ordinances in Santa Barbara and Berkeley, where condominium apartments have been built.

L. E. Weisenburg Jr. informed the council that he contemplates filing an application for a multi-story condominium apartment project. "There will shortly be about six of these presented in the City of San Rafael," he said.

In the multi-story projects, however, the land on which the building stands will be in joint ownership, so no subdivision will be involved, said Weisenburg.

Councilmen all expressed favor of the condominium idea. But they refused to even look at a tentative map until an ordinance is prepared to cover the subdivision problem. City Manager Dan E. Andersen, City Attorney Bagshaw, the planning, building and public works departments were instructed to get busy on such an ordinance.

Homes Zoning Asked Opposite Air Base

A public hearing on a proposal by Ponticoules Inc. to rezone 680 acres on Highway 101 opposite Hamilton Air Force Base from limited agricultural to planned community zoning will be held on Monday before the Marin County Planning Commission.

The commission meets at 9 a.m. at 1711 Grand Avenue in San Rafael. A normal agenda of 30 items extends until about 5 p.m. This is item No. 18 on the agenda.

A public hearing will be held on an application by Margaret Tambussa for an adjustment to permit a beauty shop at 424 Olive Avenue, Novato, to continue as a permitted use in an area in which it is not permitted. The beauty shop has been established for about four years. The hearing is item No. 19 on the agenda.

The planners will hold a public hearing on a proposal to change from suburban agriculture and retail business to administrative and professional zoning a parcel bounded by San Pedro Avenue, Tarrant Court and North San Pedro Road. The hearing is No. 5 on the agenda.

A hearing will be held on a proposal to rezone a parcel in the Waldo-Manzanita-Alto district from planned community to single family residential zoning. The area is south of Drake Avenue at Eureka Street. The proposal is item No. 3 on the agenda.

Angel Island History Talk Set Thursday

"Fascination of Angel Island" will be subject of an address by Dr. Eliot Evans at the annual meeting of Marin County Historical Society Thursday at 8 p.m. at the San Rafael Improvement Club.

Dr. Evans is curator of the Society of California Pioneers. He has traced the history of Angel Island, largest island in San Francisco Bay, and almost entirely within Marin's boundary line. The speaker will tell of the exploration of the island by the Spanish who named it "Nuestra Señora de Los Angeles" (Our Lady of the Angels) and the varied uses made of the island. It was the military stronghold of two governments, an immigration station and a favorite duelling ground.

Thomas W. Peryam, president of the society, will conduct the meeting at which directors will be elected. Members have the privilege of bringing guests and particularly invited are golden wedding couples. Peryam said. Mrs. V. J. Bloom and Mrs. Elie Dalmon are in charge of refreshments.

Subdivision Utilities Ordered Underground

Underground electric utilities in two new subdivisions were demanded last night for the first time by the Corte Madera Town Council.

Ordered to install complete underground service was Scarco, Inc., developer of 22.5 acres in the Meadowsweet area behind the old Circle Drive-In. Partial underground installation was demanded of the San Clemente Land Co., developers of Mariner Highlands, a proposed 342-unit subdivision on Paradise Drive.

Both developers appeared before the council to appeal planning commission demands that the underground installations be required.

Scarco Inc. was also protesting planners' ruling that their tract be reduced from 384 apartments to 348 and that variances on side setbacks of 10 feet not be allowed.

The council agreed to allow construction of 384 units but told the developers to take their request for side setbacks to the board of design.

A steep, wooded lot of 3.8 acres will not be built on but will be deeded to the town as a permanent green belt.

Phil Lygren, civil engineer representing Scarco Inc., told the council the underground installations would cost the developers $66,000, or less than $200 per unit.

Only partial underground installations were demanded of the Mariner Highlands developers because of higher costs of the facilities. Because most of the tract is planned under single family residential, the cost per unit of the installations was estimated by Daniel Coleman, project engineer, at $350,000 or over $1,600 per lot.

The compromise solution, by which they would install underground facilities only in the center of the project, would cost about $250 per lot if divided among the entire project.

In both instances, the council agreed that the town would furnish electroliners, or street light poles above ground, if they can be rented from Pacific Gas and Electric Co. If PG&E requires an outright cash purchase, the developers will stand the expense.

A portion of the subdivision, planned by the developer as duplex zoning, is zoned for single family dwelling. A public hearing on rezoning of the 3.8 acres was set for Oct. 16 at 9 p.m.

San Geronimo Group Wants Trees Saved

The San Geronimo Valley Assn. last night discussed its "dismay" over renewed destruction of Redwood trees by bulldozers in the Nicasio area and took new action to preserve the main portion of San Geronimo Valley Drive, containing picturesque redwoods, for a public park.

Mrs. Georgette Vilas, recording secretary, said the group has contacted the Save the Redwoods League on the park matter. It voted last night to send a copy of its resolution about it to the Redwood Empire Assn. for consideration at its convention next month.

The group voted to ask Sheriff Louis P. Montanos, county assistant civil defense director, for another siren in the Forest Knolls-Lagunitas area, she said.

She said that at its next meeting, Oct. 16, the association will debate selling the property it owns on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Forest Knolls, formerly planned for a clubhouse.

The association also voted to write the Marin Council of Parks and Recreation Commission asking that it permit a member of the association to attend its meetings, she said.

She said the county fire department banned the bulldozing and logging of Redwoods in the Nicasio area a couple of years ago as a fire hazard, and the association seeks to get the renewed destruction of the trees halted.

Miss Ethel Hain, who retired as Stinson Beach postmaster Aug. 31 after 15 years service, will be honored at a tea from 2 to 4 p.m. Friday at Stinson Beach Community Center.

Stinson Beach Allied Arts will sponsor the tea and all in the village are welcome. Miss Ruth Miller of the group announced.

Corte Madera Council Trims Sign Area Size

By a four-to-one vote last night, the Corte Madera Town Council reduced the legal area of free-standing signs in highway commercial areas from 300 to 200 square feet.

Also approved were amendments to the zoning ordinance which would limit a building of less than 50 feet in width to one sign, and larger buildings to two signs. The planning commission, however, may authorize a single free-standing sign measuring one-half square foot per foot of frontage on the street toward which the sign is directed, to a maximum of 200 square feet.

Voting against the reduction was Councilman Charles F. Pendleton, who said he felt the council was "too restrictive in thinking as far as businesses are concerned."

The council authorized Town Manager Arthur H. Brandon to hire Carlos Gonzales, San Rafael civil engineer, to furnish engineering drawings for reconstruction of portions of Baltimore and Redwood avenues and Serra Street. The total fee will be $3,000 and is to include unaccepted portions of Baltimore and Redwood, pending a verbal agreement from the major owners on the streets that they approve.

The reconstruction of the unaccepted portions would be financed through assessment districts, with the town paying engineering costs.

On a complaint from the Mariner Cove Improvement Assn., regarding "unsightly conditions" along Paradise Drive, Brandon reported to the council that part of the collection of trash has been caused by unloading of sheet-rock by the Northwestern Pacific Railroad.

A letter was directed to the railroad asking them to clean up the years-old residue. A public hearing was set for Oct. 16 to hear protests on why owners of other lots along Paradise Drive should not clean up trash deposits.

In other action last night, the Corte Madera council:

1. Authorized payment of $1,020

to Edna Harris for property the town acquired through condemnation for widening of Paradise Drive.

2. Put over until a November meeting discussion of a comprehensive animal control ordinance. The ordinance, now under preparation, would eliminate all amendments to existing animal laws.

3. Set for Oct. 16 further discussions on signals at the railroad crossing on Paradise Drive. The town's share of the proposed signals, shared with the railroad and the county, would be about $3,000.

4. Set Oct. 2 to discuss a town employee retirement plan.

5. Agreed to furnish materials costing $58 to replace an entrance sign to Marina Village at Paradise and Harbor Drives. The original sign was destroyed by the town during widening of Paradise Drive.

Hub Planners Postpone Hearing On Sunny Hills

The San Anselmo Planning Commission last night postponed to Oct. 2 its public hearing on a request by directors of Sunny Hills for rezoning of 40 acres to apartment use.

The matter was put off within five minutes of the commission's convening in the San Anselmo City Hall, on suggestion of chairman Russell H. Spatz.

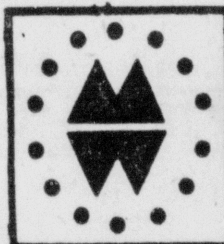

The commission then continued to the same date an earlier application by Sunny Hills for rezoning to administrative-professional use of one and one-half acres of its property. This was the second continuance of this application.

Included in the 40 acres proposed for apartment zoning is the 13½-acre site sought by the San Anselmo School District for an elementary school.

Tomasles Unification Election Is Approved

The augmented Marin County Committee on School District Organization last night voted 13-to-2 for an election on unification of Tomasles High School District and the elementary school districts within its boundaries.

One Sonoma District and part of another would be eliminated from the unified district: Potter, whose residents voted last spring to annex to Harmony District in the Analay High School District, and part of Bloomfield District, residents of which have petitioned for a split to join Analay.

The two dissenting votes were cast by West Marin School District and by Mrs. Adele S. Alpers of the County Committee on School District Organization.

John Duncan Gray and Gus Kovats, West Marin trustees, called the Tomasles High School District "a geographical monstrosity," and declared West Marin prefers to wait two years to see how much development comes to it, then either join Tamalpais High School District or become part of a new unified district which might also include Bolinas-Stinson and Lagunitas Districts.

The proposal approved would set up a board of trustees for the unified district with seven trustee areas. West Marin and Point Reyes Districts would share two trustees. Tomasles Bay would have two; Watson, American Valley and Bloomfield would share two, and Bodega Bay would have one.

Gray, arguing that West Marin District has half the population and a third of the assessed value of the proposed unified district, moved that it be allowed three members on the board of trustees. His motion died for lack of a second.

County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis was present at the meeting in Tomasles High School, but did not commit himself regarding the proposed unification.

The proposal must be concurred in by the Sonoma County Committee on School District Organization before being submitted to the State Department of Education for its approval. If the state approves, county superintendents of Marin and Sonoma counties must call an election.

Fusselman Will Report On Highways

Chairman William D. Fusselman volunteered yesterday to report back to his fellow county-supervisors on the long-discussed problem of county-city cooperation for maintenance of highways through cities.

"Perhaps we should arrange a meeting with all the cities," said he.

The problem, dormant for several months, bobbed up unexpectedly with receipt of communications from Fairfax showing that the city had taken seriously the past negotiations and had moved to implement what it considered a set plan.

Fairfax on Sept. 11, expected an agreement for improvement of an urban thoroughfare system expected to benefit by gasoline tax money and city matching funds.

The resolution and agreement were sent to County Administrator Alan Bruce who confessed that "it was news to me and (Public Works Director Marvin) Brigham that such action was being taken."

Supervisors Given Protest On Dobbs

A letter of strenuous protest against the county supervisors' "lack of due consideration" in quick appointment of B. D. Dobbs as county planning director was received by the supervisors yesterday from the Marin Council for Civic Affairs.

Signed by Morris N. Finisy as vice chairman, the communication pointed out that no public hearing was held on the problem of picking a successor to Mary Summers, who announced her retirement effective next March. The letter said Marin County is on the verge of great growth requiring care and imagination in planning.

The supervisors did "a disservice to the county" in ignoring a scheduled minority report from two planning commissioners who dissented from a majority recommendation of Dobbs, the letter said.

An hour after the letter was read and discussed, with several supervisors giving Dobbs high praise, Planning Commissioner Felix M. Warburg walked into an executive session discussing welfare, deposited the minority report by himself and Commissioner Worth Fenner; and hastily backed out. Presumably the report will be read by the supervisors this afternoon.

Livermore Will Build City Shelters

LIVERMORE (AP)—Councilmen of this home city of the University of California's Lawrence Radiation Laboratory approved a plan last night to provide nuclear fallout shelters for all its 17,250 inhabitants.

Around 300 applauded as the council acted. Earlier, a lone dissenter was shouted down after he said he is not a Livermore resident.

The shelter plan, as outlined by Leo Von Gottfried, a physicist at the laboratory, would work like this:

Seven shelters would be placed strategically in various parts of the city. A democratically elected cadre would be in charge of each.

In case of attack, citizens would be prepared to live for two weeks in the shelters.

Variable Interest Rates Urged For Borrowers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The president of the California Savings and Loan League, Oliver M. Chatburn, suggested yesterday that young borrowers with potentially good futures be given some new breaks.

Chatburn, who is senior vice president of California Federal Savings of Los Angeles, said "We might give a break to a young borrower by basing the down payment and the monthly payment during the first five years of the loan on the borrower's income."

He said the payments could be increased as the young person's income increased.

He told 800 delegates at the opening session of the 71st annual convention of the league that the industry should adopt a variable interest rate tied in with the cost of money.

He said that a variable rate is the basic plan used by the British building societies and also by a few U.S. savings and loan institutions.

He explained that when the savings and loan increases its dividend one-quarter per cent, the interest rate on its outstanding home loans would be increased a like amount.

A borrower who obtained his loan when the savings and loans were paying dividends of 3 or 3½ per cent would not continue to have the use of that money over a longer period of time at the lesser rate than the person who made his loan when savings and loans were paying 4½ per cent dividends, he said.

WORK AND WATCH—Construction workmen, firemen, sheriff's officers, Marin Municipal Water District employees and others joined yesterday in the battle to rescue three men trapped in a ditch cave-in near Tocaloma. These men observing the scene with evident tension are waiting their turn to go back in and dig. Only 10 men would work in the ditch at one time.

'PRETTY SOON'—A rescue worker, with left hand on plywood section, flashes word that fellow rescuers were nearly ready to bring out living victim of cave-in of trench at Marin Municipal Water District construction site. Trench had to be vastly shored up by hand before James Brewer, 21, could be brought out.

DEEP DIGGING JOB—Rescue workers had to dig to the bottom of 14 feet of caved-in earth and rock to reach the trapped Brewer. Seen at left of Marin Ambulance is garden hose through which oxygen was fed by two county fire department rescuers.

BY HAND ONLY—Construction workers used only shovels and their hands to clear away hundreds of pounds of boulders and dirt to reach trapped, but still alive, James Brewer. Plywood frame was hastily erected to hold back dirt and prevent further cave-in.

HE'S ALIVE! FIRST PHOTO—Brewer finally was lifted from his burial alive by two rescue workers after more than two hours of digging. He and two workers killed by cave-in were strapped standing up. Brewer was not lifted out until dirt was cleared away as far as his feet.

PRAYED FOR VICTIMS—This unidentified clergyman, accompanied by the woman standing with back to camera, was one of the first arrivals at the scene of the Tocaloma cave-in.

They remained until the last body was brought out. Several times during the rescue operation, he prayed for the trapped men. But in the excitement of the rescue, no one learned his name.

Funeral Rites Scheduled For Cave-In Victims

Funeral services for Dee Henry Bradshaw, 42, Black Point carpenter killed yesterday in a cave-in at Tocaloma, will be held Thursday at 3 p.m. at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

Services for Thomas E. Burchfield, 26, San Rafael laborer who died in the same accident, will be held at Keaton's on Friday at 1 p.m. Bradshaw and his wife, Clara, resided at 330 Grandview Road, Black Point, since 1957. He was a native of Texas. He had been a member of Carpenters Local Union Local 35 in San Rafael since 1952.

He is also survived by his mother, Suzy Bradshaw of Texas; four children, Sharon, 15, Linda, 14, John, 11, and Laura, 10; two brothers, Newton of Saugus, Los Angeles County, and Thomas J. of Petaluma; and a sister, Opal Hegler of Texas.

Bradshaw will be buried in Marin Memorial Gardens in Novato.

Burchfield had been a Marin County resident for only a month, residing at 172 Belvedere Street in San Rafael with his wife, Patricia, and two daughters, Deborah, 4, and Katherine, 2.

He was a member of the Laborers, Construction and General Hodcarriers Union Local 291 in San Rafael. He was a native of Arkansas.

Residing with the couple in San Rafael was Mrs. Burchfield's mother, Mrs. Carl Lorst, a resident of Mill Valley for the past 20 years.

Survivors also include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Coy Burchfield of Arkansas; four sisters, Mrs. R. E. Tieg of Carlsbad, San Diego County, La Verne Atkinson, Linda Burchfield and Shirley Shaver, all of Arkansas; and three brothers, Carl of the U.S. Air

Maris Has 2 Nights Left

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Roger Maris, held to a pair of singles in 18 official efforts at Baltimore's Memorial Stadium must accomplish an amazing flip-flop and tag two home runs in three games at the Orioles' home park to tie Babe Ruth's home run record.

The Stadium's hard-to-scale walls, a Baltimore pitching staff that has allowed Maris only one home run all season and the distinct possibility of a visit from Hurricane Esther all bar Roger's way to the Bambino's 34-year-old record.

Maris, with 58 home runs and a one-game edge over Ruth's record 60 homer pace of 1927, begins his final "official" assault on the mark in a two-night doubleheader tonight, then winds it up in a night game tomorrow under the 154-decision allotment decreed by Commissioner Ford Frick.

The Orioles' mound corps and the Stadium's distant home run territory have combined to limit opposing sluggers to only 42 homers in 75 games, and have completely contained Maris. His lone homer, off Chuck Estrada, came at Yankee Stadium May 21.

Hurricane Esther, meanwhile, has picked up speed and threatens to jumble the schedule in the final drive for No. 60.

The twi-nighter, in which Maris will face left-hander Steve Barber (16-11) and right-hander Skinny Brown (10-4), plus tomorrow and Thursday night games closes out the New York Yankees' schedule at Baltimore and takes them on to Boston, also in the path of the onrushing hurricane.

Whitey Ford (24-3) and Bud Daley (11-17) will go for New York in the twi-nighter, with the Yankees 10½ games ahead of the second-place Detroit Tigers.

AAU Will Face Feuds

NEW YORK (AP)—The Amateur Athletic Union will try to iron out its feud with the National Collegiate Athletic Association over the control of amateur basketball on Oct. 2 in Chicago.

AAU President Louis G. Wilke of Bartlesville, Okla., called a meeting Monday of all 12 groups concerned with amateur basketball, including the NCAA.

The dispute revolves around the AAU's holding the U.S. membership in the International Basketball Federation. The NCAA claims the AAU does not represent all amateur basketball in the country.

A Thumbnail Report On Prospects For Deer Season Opening Saturday

According to the latest release from the Fish and Game Department, the prospects of using your surplus deer tags look rosy.

The late deer season opens on Saturday. The limit for inland deer is one buck, forked-horn or better, except that two bucks may be taken in Del Norte and Trinity counties and in portions of Humboldt, Colusa, Siskiyou, Shasta, Tehama and Glen counties. (The two-buck area is outlined in the 1961 hunting-regulations booklet available from any license agent.)

The northwest and north central counties are expected to equal or beat last year's record kills, but not so in Kern, Inyo, Mono, Lassen, Modoc and eastern Siskiyou where hunting will be below average. However, it is all up to the weather.

Very briefly, the outlook according to fish and game field personnel follows by counties:

DEL NORTE AND HUMBOLDT—Deer plentiful. Comparable success to last year's kill expected.

SISKIYOU—Kill expected to be below the average.

TRINITY—Still better than last year which was above the average. Buck carry-over highest in the state. New Trinity Reservoir will provide access by boat to areas formerly hard to reach.

SHASTA—Last year's buck kill was second highest on record for this county. May be smaller kill because of one buck limit east of Highway 99 and the Sacramento River. Deer mostly on summer range and will remain there until stormy weather.

TEHAMA—Western part of county should be excellent, particularly in early part of season. Hot spots will likely be in the Beegum area.

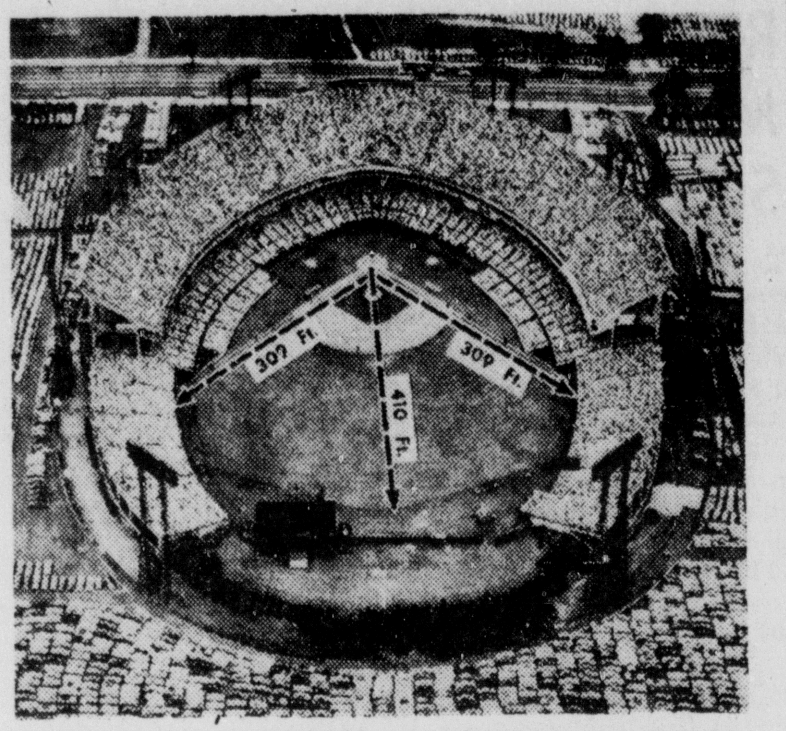

MODOC—Poor fawn survival for second year. Both 1 and 2-year olds will be fewer this year. Only small percent of kill is ever made in early part of season. Best to wait until storms hit that area and move the deer.

LASSEN—Prospects seem to be rather poor this season. Buck carry-over lowest ever recorded with only seven bucks per 100 does in the Hat Creek area.

GLEN—Buck kill last year was second to all time record. Normal buck carry-over and good fawn survival. Animals now scattered with concentrations in some high meadows. Most foothill areas require permission (written) to hunt, but national forest open to public.

BUTTE AND YUBA—Both these counties hit all time records for buck kills last year. Prospects look as good for this year.

PLUMAS—Prospects look

PROSPECTIVE HISTORICAL LANDMARK—Roger Maris of New York Yankees goes to home plate in this baseball park, Baltimore's Memorial Stadium, tonight, and tomorrow night for a three-game stand in his effort to hit two home runs to tie, and three to break, Babe Ruth's record of 60 in a 154-game season. Maris' only homer here this year was July 17 over the centerfield wire, but didn't count because the game was called. (AP Wirephoto)

Injuries Most In Curtice's Career

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Coach Jack Curtice of Stanford said today that the injury list of his Indians this year is the greatest he's ever run into in his career as a football coach.

"It seems somebody gets hurt every day or so," he said. "It looks like Steve Thurlow will be out for at least a month—maybe more. He was one of our most promising quarterbacks. And Jim Smith possibly would have been our No. 1 signal caller. He's on the injury list."

"And Frank Dubofsky, who was going to be our starting right guard has a broken hand."

Football TV Bill To Be Considered By The Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House has passed to the Senate a bill that would permit the National Football League to skip around a legal block and grant a league-wide contract for television coverage of its games.

The measure, approved in the House yesterday by a voice vote, applies to all professional sports leagues—baseball, basketball and hockey as well as football—but it was custom-designed for the NFL, whose television plans were ruled out of bounds by a Philadelphia federal court.

If the Senate acts on the measure before adjournment, its effect still would not be felt until the 1962 season.

"WHERE SERVICE IS A MATTER OF PRIDE"

Stu Won't Forget It

By HARRY JUPITER
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Stu Miller, who will always remember 1961 as the year he wrote the script, played it to the hilt on Stu Miller night.

The fans, 12,995 of them, honored the San Francisco Giants' ace relief pitcher last night, then settled down to watch a fine pitching duel between two sharp rookies, right-hander Jim Duffalo of the Giants and southpaw Bob Hendley of Milwaukee.

By the time Miller got through counting a truckload of gifts the Braves had a 2-1 lead and two runners on base with none out in the eighth.

In came Miller for the 58th time this year. He stopped the Braves cold and registered his 13th victory after Felipe Alou led off in the ninth with a single and Orlando Cepeda followed with his 41st homer of the year.

Miller, now 13-4 with nine saves to his credit, is enjoying his best season.

He was scanning a 20-foot, 1,000-signature telegram of congratulations from his old friends in Northampton, Mass., when he was called on to relieve Duffalo.

In marched Miller, laughing at the baseball superstition that decrees a ballplayer should stay home when he is given a "night."

Stu threw to third, forcing Lee Maye on Joe Torre's sacrifice try, then got Frank Bolling on a double-play liner.

Then came a weird Giants' eighth that had Miller wondering which of two gifts was more significant—a religious book or a set of horse shoes.

The Giants collected two singles, a walk and a Milwaukee error and couldn't squeeze in a run.

Thinking of another of his prizes, a muscle building course, skinny Stu went out and put down the Braves 1-2-3 in the ninth.

Then Alou and Cepeda combined for Stu's nicest gift of all, his 13th win.

It was the Giants' ninth victory in their last 11 games and stretched the Braves' losing streak on this trip to seven games, their longest of the season.

Warren Spahn 19-13 was to go for his 12th 20-victory National League season today against Giant right-hander Jack Sanford 12-8.

San Rafael Recreation Department softball league play is in its final week.

Then on Thursday evening Sohner will tangle with another contender, Presidio, in a makeup of a previously postponed game.

The third team in the running for the championship, Dugout-Cain Tire, has completed its season.

Feldman Is Raiders New Chief

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Marty Feldman today is the new head coach of the Oakland Raiders.

Eddie Erdelatz, the only football name the Oakland Raiders had when they started last year, no longer has a job with the American Football League club.

After his team lost 55-0 and 44-0 to Houston and San Diego in the league openers, Eddie drew his walking papers from the Raider owners. His assistant, Marty Feldman, was named to succeed him yesterday.

Last year Erdelatz, a winning coach at Navy, moulded a team from what was termed "a bunch of guys named Joe," and finished better than three other clubs. Since Oakland was the last club formed and missed the draft meeting last year, not much was expected of it.

This year the Raiders have won only once—losing three exhibition tilts and the two league games against the teams that won the division titles in the AFL for 1960.

"It was a complete surprise," Erdelatz said of his discharge.

"The owners said they didn't think much of those first two scores."

Feldman draws a tough assignment quickly. The Raiders meet Dallas, another powerful club, this Sunday.

Erdelatz resigned from the Naval Academy football job in 1958 after nine successful seasons and a disagreement with officials there. Last year he was named Oakland coach at a time they had no players. His club won six and lost eight in the inaugural season.

Thud! Los Angeles Falls Again

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thud! The sound you just heard was the Los Angeles Dodgers falling four games behind the front-running Cincinnati Reds, and quite possibly right out of the National League pennant picture.

Unable to put together a sustained drive in an attempt to overtake the Reds, the Dodgers had their latest win string broken at four games last night when sixth-inning home runs by former teammates Don Zimmerman and George Altman gave the Chicago Cubs a 5-3 victory.

It was a critical loss for the Dodgers, three down in the lost column with only 11 games to play, and reduced the idle Reds' magic number to seven to clinch their first pennant since 1940.

In other games, third-place San Francisco edged Milwaukee 3-2 on Orlando Cepeda's two-run homer in the ninth, and Pittsburgh beat St. Louis by 8-6. The American League took a day off.

In order to rest their pitching staff, worn thin by constant juggling in the chase and depleted by the absence of Johnny Podres at the bedside of his ailing father, the Dodgers started rookie righthander Phil Ortega.

Ortega, who had given up two homers in two innings in his first stint since his recall from Spokane added three more Monday night before departing after 5½ innings with his first loss.

Billy Casper To Face Tough Weather Too

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Billy Casper Jr. may have to beat the weather as well as the nation's top professional golfers this week if he is to win the Portland Open for the third straight time.

Intermittent rains have slickened the par 36-36-72 Columbia-Edgewater Country Club course, which stretches over 6,687 yards near the shore of the Columbia River.

Forecasters expect skies to clear for the four-day, $25,000 tourney which starts Thursday. Bright sunshine slipped through gray clouds briefly as early arrivals from the Seattle Open got in some practice yesterday.

Casper was among them.

The 31-year-old Apple Valley, Calif., pro was five under par on a practice round.

Casper's competition at Portland will include most of those who played in Seattle.

Marin High School Teams Specialize Their Workouts

By PAUL MILLER

The clearing of last week's opening game dust has permitted Marin County Athletic League Prep football teams to specialize their workouts this week.

Redwood, San Rafael, Novato, and Sir Francis Drake coaches yesterday and today were polishing their teams' offenses, particularly in the areas of blocking and backfield timing. Tamalpais was concentrating on defensive methods, Marin Catholic on everything.

All the coaches were working from their analyses of last week's combat.

San Rafael's coach Bob Muster had good words for the performances of linemen Jack Clark and Chris Yaeger in Friday's 13-6 victory over Hollister High. Muster felt his boys carried out their defensive responsibilities well, but that the offense "was not jelling, and our timing was off."

This week the Bulldogs are spending time on pass patterns and blocking. "Both will have to be sharper," said Muster. He said Friday's game and the turnout of several of the players working out on their own initiative at the Bulldog Field Saturday indicates to him that he has a team of outstanding spirit. He credited much of this to the leadership of quarterback Jack Sovereign and Clark.

Head coach Jim Hanretty of the Tamalpais Indians commented that his boys "moved the ball pretty well" in their victory over Pacifica last Friday. He felt that Tam's new slot T formation "seems to be pretty effective and it opened up the defense a bit, enabling us to run better than last year."

"We moved the ball O.K.," he added, "but lacked general sharpness."

Hanretty said he was not really disappointed with this lack, however, because the club went into the game with a big question mark. The coach pointed up good tackling as an area of prime need. He felt the Indians were quick and eager, but not polished or effective. This week, while most of the Marin teams will be practicing offense, the Indians will be put through much defensive work.

Hanretty praised Curtis Davis, a light (140-pound) defensive end who showed agility Friday, and wingback brothers Art and Ron Foster.

Tex Hamilton played his best high school football game, felt Hanretty. "He looked like a real quarterback," said the coach. Hamilton hit six out of eight passes, one of which was called back for an offside penalty.

Two men, injured Friday, will not be practicing this week, and when they will see action is not yet determined. Norman White suffered a fractured left arm and wrist, and Donnie Johnston a severely twisted right knee.

Redwood head coach Bob Troppmann was pleased with the performance of his inexperienced Giants in a test Friday night in which they fought Montgomery High, the North Bay League's (Section I) No. one title prospect, to a standstill.

This week Troppmann's boys are working on the middle line to make it tougher inside. "Get all that beef moving in the same direction," he said. His big middle line giants Jeff Tether, Larry Kooztz, and Bob Anderson did well for the first game, but are going to do even better.

For Friday's stalemate he praised the work of Mark Pearce "I'm real high on him," the punting of Randy Bough "that kept Montgomery in the hole most of the evening," and the running of Ricky Basco and sophomore Dave Cox.

Other work in practice this week for the Giants will include some concentration on pass patterns. After watching his new club in action Troppmann feels it definitely has enough "to go all the way if they want to."

One of the reasons Novato was hurt, analyzes head coach Marlin Olsen, was that the Hornets all week before the Analay game practiced pass defense, and it showed, particularly in Don Scribner's corner. But Analay unleashed a ground attack Saturday, catching them off guard, and resulting in the 12-7 defeat of Novato.

This week Olsen will stress offensive drill. "Polishing up the offense will be a lot easier," concluded Olsen.

One area of high priority will be blocking, another will be switching some players so some of the first stringers can get a few seconds of rest, he said.

Olsen was fairly well satisfied with his team's defense. With the team the size of Analay operating 43 running plays and gaining only 78 yards rushing, one may see why.

Sir Francis Drake coach Bob Franceschini used the Pirates' 6-0 defeat by Petaluma to find out how to make his two platoon system dangerous by the time league play rolls around. What he decided was that his defensive platoon was much too strong.

"We need a little more punch at the beginning," feels Franceschini. So he's going to use about nine men to play a greater period of time on both the defensive and offensive platoon, replacing them at periods with those regularly assigned to respective platoons. Weakening the defensive platoon will give the team overall strength, Franceschini feels.

The six Drake fumbles that occurred in the Friday game will trigger an effort for better ball exchange between Charles Andrews and Hamish Tyler. Some fancier offensive work will be introduced also this week, said Franceschini.

PRAISES QUARTERBACK Hickey Hopes Critics Silenced

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—San Francisco Forty Niner coach Red Hickey said today he hoped that last Sunday's Redskins-Forty Niner game would silence critics of quarterback John Brodie.

"John had as good a day as I've ever seen any quarterback have," said Hickey. "I hope there's no doubt about him now."

Brodie clicked on 16 of 22 passes for 237 yards and four touchdowns and saw two other possible scoring tosses dropped. The Forty Niners won 35-3.

Middle linebacker Bob Harrison was given the game ball by captain Matt Hazeltine, who commented "I could have given the ball to any one of 12 or 15 guys."

The question remained today—were the Forty Niners that good Sunday or are the Redskins an unusually poor National Football League team?

The Forty Niners knew they would find out the answer to that one next Sunday when they meet the Green Bay Packers at Green Bay.

Meanwhile in Los Angeles, laconic coach Bob Waterfield of the Los Angeles Rams feels that if his club can ever put together two good halves of football they will win a game.

He told the Southern California Football Writers Association yesterday that the Rams

An Analysis Of The Forty-Niners' Romp Over Outclassed Washington

San Francisco's Forty Niners played another practice game at Kezar Stadium Sunday, but this one counts in the league standings. Coach Red Hickey's men had it, and the Washington Redskins didn't, and the result was a 35 to 3 landslide.

It has been a long time since so much gravy has lopped around in the bowl, and it may be another while before the 49ers find another pigeon like this one. They don't come so easy the rest of the way, and there is work to be done.

Quarterbacks John Brodie and Bill Kilmer had pass receivers wide open all afternoon, and hit them with exceptional accuracy for big chunks of yardage. Several cinch passes were dropped by men in the clear, two for touchdowns. The moot question is: Was Washington that bad, or the 49ers that good?

IT WAS THE running game that put some wrinkles in Coach Hickey's forehead. At the end of the first half, with the 49ers leading 21 to 3, only 28 net yards had been gained on the ground. That ain't good, and Hickey knew it. After Brodie had iced the contest with one more score, the practice session started.

Orders from the bench were to forget the passes unless needed, and work out the running backs. And while there was obvious improvement, the results were not too satisfying. Often the ball carrier was dropped behind the line, and there was some success around the ends. Inside end, however, any holes opened (and there were some huge ones) were quickly plugged by the middle linebacker.

If the 49ers offense is going to click against the tougher competition to come, the ground game MUST work to make the air game effective. Off the shotgun formation, running plays develop so slowly that the secondary has time to regroup. The answer may be some sharp cutting quick openers, or more effort in an attempt to get a blocker in front of the middle linebacker.

We shall see what the red-head comes up with next week. Bill Kilmer continues to captivate the crowd with his passing-running threat, but Bill learned a measure of humility Sunday when the Washington "red-dog" defense landed him on the seat of his pants on numerous occasions. Kilmer has yet to run a play from the standard "T" formation, and makes no pretense of doing so. An occasional quick shot from the T would catch the defense on its heels, as they always expect Bill to drop back.

AS IT HAS so many times in the past, the 49er defensive unit earned the applause of the home crowd for terrific containment. This gang continues to improve and will be a big factor in success enjoyed in future games.

The next two weeks will pretty well point the possibilities of this edition of the 49ers. First the Green Bay Packers and then the Detroit Lions on successive Sundays, and both games away from home. Last year's division champ Packers will be fired up after their opening loss Sunday, while the Lions are already dreaming of regaining past glories.

Win or lose, these 49ers are going to make it a mighty interesting year for the rest of the league and for the fans.

Annual Swim Held By Club In Mill Valley

Steve Scott and Cynthia Hurley were the high point trophy winners and also the record breakers in the annual Mill Valley closed swimming meet held Sunday at the Mill Valley Tennis Club.

Miss Hurley broke two meet records. She swam the 50-yard freestyle for girls 16 and under in 33:05 seconds, and the 50-yard butterfly for girls 16 and under in 39:08 seconds. Scott won the 25-yard butterfly for boys 14 and under in 15:03.

Troppmann To Direct Competition

Redwood High School's head football coach, Bob Troppmann, has agreed to serve as director of competition for the punt, pass and kick contest to be held Oct. 7 at Redwood High School.

The competition is being sponsored nationally by Ford and by the National Football League, and locally by Ames Ford Sales.

L. J. Dervin Ford Co. is conducting a similar contest for boys in the Novato-Hamilton Air Force Base area, with that event to be held Oct. 14 at Simmons Lane.

Boys 6 through 10 are eligible to compete, and may sign up at either Ames or Dervin.

In the competition boys will be judged on distance and accuracy of their passing, punting and place-kicking. Winners in each age group will receive football uniforms.

Second and third place finishers will be awarded warm-up jackets and footballs respectively.

The winners of the Redwood and Novato competitions may also become eligible to advance to national eliminations. Scores of the Marin winners will be compared with those of victors in other areas and the five best performers will qualify for the national finals to be held in conjunction with a San Francisco 49er home game at Kezar Stadium in November.

John Clahan, Ames public relations representative in charge of the Redwood contest, said competitors there will be required to report at noon on Oct. 7 for the contest.

'C' Basketball Opens Sept. 26

Marin County Athletic League "C" basketball play will open Sept. 26.

Novato Man Will Advise Defense Unit

William F. Halpenny of 26 Grove Lane, Novato, has been made project adviser with overall responsibility over 16 chapters of the National Defense Transportation Assn. in eight western states as they conduct a survey of every conveyance engaged in commercial transportation.

Halpenny is also in charge of the effort by the Redwood Empire Chapter, based at Hamilton Air Force Base as a civilian organization coordinated with the military. Col. Reet P. Smith of Hamilton Base is president of the chapter, which includes Marin and Sonoma Counties.

Halpenny said the chapter is one of 96 throughout the United States involved in nationwide census of all transportation facilities.

"The census is unique in several respects," said Halpenny. "It is a coordinated effort under auspices of a civilian association dedicated to improving the national transportation posture; a government agency, the Office of Emergency Planning; and Military Traffic Management Agency under the Department of Defense."

"It is further the first attempt on a national scale to collect transportation data on equipment, based on where the equipment is likely to be while in service, and relates this information to precise 10-kilometer squares. The data collected will be available for state, county and metropolitan civil defense agencies when assembled."

Halpenny said the Redwood Empire Chapter hopes to finish its part of the work by Nov. 1.

Sunny Hills Sets Grape Festival For Usual Date

Condemnation proceedings against Sunny Hills Home, brought by the San Anselmo School District, will have "no bearing whatsoever" on this year's Grape Festival, E. T. Herman, chairman of the board of Sunny Hills has declared.

The festival is set as usual for the first Saturday in October, which is the 7th.

Herman said he warned the nearly 100 officers of festival guilds throughout the county that they will need to make the event "even more successful, monetarily, than usual" to raise funds to fight the school district's action.

He said more than 10 percent of operating costs for Sunny Hills are raised yearly by the festival.

Hundreds of items prepared by 37 guilds, the Sunny Hills Auxiliary and about 20 independent community groups are sold at the San Anselmo festival grounds.

Moderator for the meeting will be Felix M. Warburg, Marin County Planning Commission member.

Speakers will evaluate individual planning commission's coordination of activities with adjacent areas and discuss procedures and policies.

Recorder's Son Leads St. Mary's

Gary Giacomini, 22, son of Marin County Recorder Noel Giacomini, is one of the busiest students on the St. Mary's College campus as the college opened the new semester with an enrollment of about 900.

The student body president at Moraga, Gary was host chairman to the student body officers of nine Bay Area colleges at The Sir Francis Drake Hotel this week. During registration and counseling, he was in charge of orientation talks for freshmen and new students.

Young Giacomini is a pre-legal student in his senior year. He graduated from Marin Catholic High School three years ago. He lives with his parents at 28 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera.

Tamalpais High District Sending Letter To Parents

A "dear parent" letter explaining changes in mathematics instruction in the Tamalpais High School District is being distributed to parents of students at Tamalpais, Drake, and Redwood, Supt. Chester G. Carlisle announced today.

Primary purpose of the letter, composed by mathematics teachers, is to assure parents that the program started this year does not discard traditional and classic math concepts, Carlisle said.

District teachers, the letter explains, have been studying ways to improve the math program. Last spring they attended a series of ten lectures, this summer they held a workshop, and throughout they have consulted with Professor Jens Lund of the University of California.

Result of the Tam District study has been a different first year algebra course in the three schools. Eventually the material will be extended to geometry, advanced algebra, trigonometry and calculus.

"Sometimes when the 'new' mathematics program is discussed there is a common misunderstanding that the 'old' mathematics is being thrown out. This is not the case," the letter points out. "Rather, we are using a new approach to traditional material."

Prison's Trade Units Meeting

For the first time in San Quentin history, the prison's 11 trade advisory committees will hold a joint meeting on Thursday beginning at 8:30 a.m.

The trades advisory program was begun at the prison in 1942 to train inmates for postrelease positions in industry as an aid to the war effort. Since then, the program has expanded to cover nine state institutions with 11 committees meeting individually every three months to.

The committees, made up of representatives of labor, management and the public, advise on needs and trends within the various industries.

Five Marinites Enlist In Army

Five Marin County residents enlisted in the Army during July, it was announced today.

They are Richard M. Rains, 225 C Street, San Rafael; William C. Petros, 122 Longfellow Road, Mill Valley; Wayne S. Colla, 111 Bothin Road, Fairfax; Richard J. Brittain, 43 Creek Road, San Anselmo; and Kenneth W. Hodson, 804 Hacienda Way, Santa Venetia.

Pastor Tells Of Mideast, Europe Trip

Rev. Michael Barkowska of Calvary Baptist Church in Larkspur, back from a tour of Europe and the Middle East, declared he appreciates more than ever "the privileges and freedoms we have in this country."

"But," warned the minister, "never have I been more convinced that unless Americans are willing to stand up for their rights now, we are perilously close to losing them."

Rev. Barkowska and 15 others left for Europe and the Holy Land two months ago on a special tour sponsored by Western Baptist Bible College in El Cerrito. The group traveled 20,000 miles by air and walked about 100 miles to visit points of interest.

Rev. Barkowska said that "Europe and the Middle East lag a long way behind the United States both materially and spiritually."

He attributes this to lack of "communication" between foreign "pastors and their people."

"Material want breeds lack of spiritual incentive," explained the Larkspur pastor as he pointed out that from his observations on his trip "our government's foreign aid never gets to the people for whom it is meant."

"The people over there just don't get what they should unless it is sent directly to them through some agency—church or otherwise," he elaborated, pointing out that Americans seem to lack the sense of responsibility to stem the "lethargy and apathy that is setting in."

"I took this trip primarily to visit the Holy Land," said Barkowska, "and as part of my education to be better equipped to preach the gospel—to make the Bible more realistic."

"It was a blessed experience to hold worship services where Jesus had ministered," he said.

Held To Answer In Attack Case

Keith V. Buchignani, 32, Santa Venetia butcher, was bound over to Marin Superior Court Friday on a rape charge involving a 22-year-old Santa Venetia housewife.

He will appear in Marin Superior Court on Sept. 25.

The woman, an attractive brunette who had ambitions to become a model and singer, testified at a preliminary hearing before Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court.

She said she and her husband had known Buchignani for some time. She went for a ride with him on Sept. 1 to buy cigarettes. Instead of driving directly home, she said, he took her dancing and drinking at two bars and attacked her off San Pedro Road near Littleman Market.

Retires From Postal Service

Mrs. Margaret Landers, 24 Brenfleck Avenue, San Anselmo, the third generation of her family to serve the Post Office Department, has retired after 19 years service, she announced.

She began work in the town of San Quentin in 1942 and transferred to San Francisco where she worked mail in the customs division and later was on loan to the U. S. Civil Service Commission.

Mrs. Landers said her late mother, Mrs. Mary Newby, was postmaster for more than 25 years at San Quentin, retiring in 1941.

She said her grandfather, John McRae, who came to San Quentin in 1863 and owned a saloon and the Shepherd Hotel, was postmaster there for many years.

Boy, 15, Overcome By Muffler Fumes

Donald Cleary, 15-year-old student, son of Maynard Cleary of 221 McAlister Avenue, Kentfield, was overcome by fumes from a faulty muffler in the 1950 car in which he was riding Friday night with friends, the sheriff's office reported.

He was removed near a Kentfield drive-in and taken to Marin General Hospital where he regained consciousness. Doctors said he would be all right except for headaches for a while.

NEW FALCON WAGON

A new addition to the Falcon line for 1962 is this Falcon Squire, a standard, four-door, six-passenger station wagon with simulated wood exterior trim. With the second seat converted, the Squire boasts a flat and level cargo space of more than 76 cubic feet.

Dipsea Race Delayed Fellowship Journey

E. Wesley Hildreth, 23, of Mill Valley, left yesterday on a Harvard fellowship which will take him around the world on a one-year tour and enable him to observe political situations, universities and peoples first hand.

Had it not been for the Dipsea race on Sunday, Hildreth would have left in July.

Hildreth, a Harvard graduate, held off his trip to spend the summer training for the race from Mill Valley to Stinson Beach, in which he placed ninth. Hildreth's corrected time was 50 minutes, 55 seconds, a fact which made the runner happy since it was the fastest he had ever run the course.

The Frederick Sheldon Traveling Fellowship requires that Hildreth stay no longer than two months in any one place and allows him to travel as an observer.

On his itinerary are such spots as Algeria, Russia and Yugoslavia, according to Hildreth's mother, Mrs. George Hildreth of 86 Hill Street. His father, George Hildreth, lives in Los Angeles.

Hildreth goes first to England where he plans to stay at Oxford University one month. On his return from the year abroad he plans to work for his doctorate in political science at University of California.

Party At Pomeroy's Finally Comes To End

The case of the noisy Sausalito party at the home of the socially prominent William A. Pomeroy was a closed issue today, but only after some wires got crossed in the Marin district attorneys office.

The peace disturbance complaint by Dr. and Mrs. Douglas W. Kerr of 14 Sunshine Avenue, Sausalito, died a quiet but confused death in court late yesterday. The Kerrs let it lie even though they had a last-minute change of heart and tried to keep it alive a few more days.

What happened was this:

Felding Lane of San Francisco, attorney for Pomeroy, asked Judge Harold J. Haley in Marin Municipal Court for a continuance. But Deputy Dist. Atty. Thomas T. Storer moved for dismissal in the interests of justice. He said the Kerrs had talked with Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety and said they didn't want Pomeroy prosecuted after all.

The judge dismissed the charge.

Last night Garety said the Kerrs visited his office last week and favored dismissal. Garety then made a notation on the case file. Storer acted on this notation.

What Storer did not know was that Kerr phoned Garety yesterday asking that the motion for dismissal be delayed a couple of days to give Kerr a chance to talk with Sausalito Police Chief Howard Goerndt. Garety said that after the dismissal he phoned Kerr and

San Rafael Church Sets Rummage Sale

A rummage sale will be held at the Congregational Church, 912 E Street, San Rafael, beginning at 10 a.m. Oct. 7, attorney Theodore Schweiter announced today.

Funds from the sale will be used to purchase chancel choir robes and furnishings, he said.

"he was understanding about it."

Garety issued a statement to explain the dismissal: "Dr. and Mrs. Kerr have requested that the charge be dropped because they feel as a practical matter nothing could be gained by bringing Mr. Pomeroy to trial. The Kerrs reiterate that all they desired initially was a little less sound of music at 2 a.m. in their neighborhood while they were trying to sleep."

Garety said that after hearing from Kerr yesterday he suggested to Pomeroy's attorney that he seek a continuance.

The Pomeroy party was given the night of Sept. 7-8 at their home at 86 San Carlos Avenue to sound the coming out of their daughter Pinkie, a University of California student.

Ernie Heckscher's orchestra followed by the Al Trobabe band furnished music for the event, widely heralded as one of Sausalito's biggest blowouts of the season.

Pomeroy is an executive of a contracting and engineering firm. Dr. Kerr is a dentist, who said he had oral surgery to perform on the morning after the party began.

School Sites On Agenda

A report by the district's architects on two possible sites for a new school in the west Novato area will be the main item of business at a special meeting at 8 p.m. today of the Novato Unified School District board at the administration offices on Grant Avenue.

Reid, Rockwell, Banwell and Taries, architects, will report on which of two possible sites the firm favors for a school in west Novato.

Other business to come before the board includes plans for expansion of the high school library and physical education building.

What's the lure?

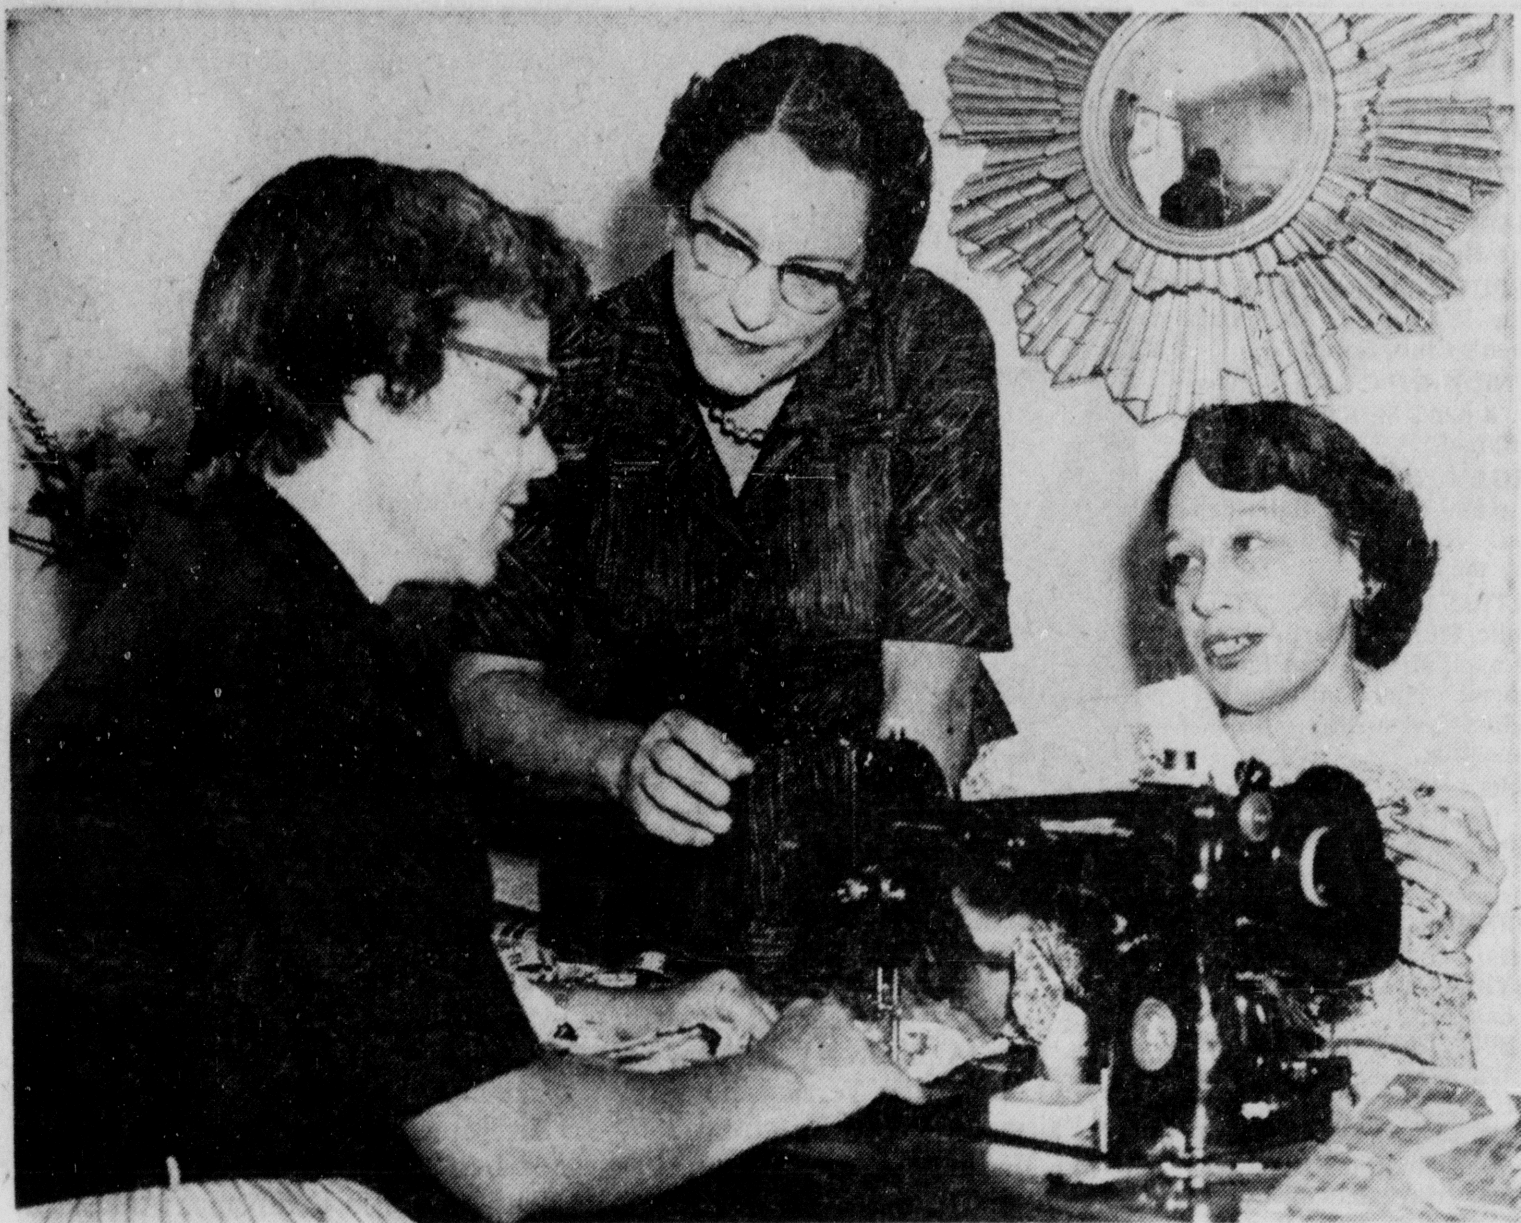

Nothing mysterious about the lure that attracts travelers to the sign of the Chevron: service as friendly as an angler's grin, prompt car care from headlights to tail lamps. Plus the biggest catch of all—the new gasoline discovery, Methyl, first new antiknock compound since Ethyl®. Unlike other antiknock compounds, Methyl stands up under the extreme temperatures of high compression engines... assures continuous antiknock protection. And it spreads evenly to all cylinders, giving more knock-free miles than any other antiknock compound. It doesn't cost a penny more to get Methyl power. Home Advisor Helps Housewife

By PATRICIA ZINN

"Can you freeze fruits using artificial sweeteners?" "Junior has used a black crayon on the quilted couch, how do I get it off?"

Answers and solutions to these queries and all problems relating to the home are available to help families in Marin through attractive and personable Mrs. Virginia Porter, Marin's Home Advisor.

A member of the staff of the University of California, Mrs. Porter is a well-trained home economist who has been placed in the county by the Agricultural Extension Service of the College of Agriculture at Cal and the cooperative efforts of the county and national government.

Mrs. Porter, who thoroughly enjoys working with people, says "We are interested in homemakers becoming intelligent consumers." To this end she conducts discussions for community groups as her most recent talk on freezing before the Highway Patrol Auxiliary.

A call to her office at 738 A Street in San Rafael will bring her to your home where she can help you build a better family life by advising on your family's food, their clothing, your time, energy and money, the house you live in and the family living together where her program includes information about child care and feeding, child growth and behavior, guidance and family relationships. Her telephone is listed under Marin County Farm and Home Advisor.

Another phase of her job as home advisor is expanding her program through the development and training of project leaders who in turn take the information back to their respective communities.

Work with the 4-H is a major field where Mrs. Porter works with members and trains club leaders. She and other members of the Agricultural Extension Staff help club leaders plan and carry out an effective 4-H club program.

That she is pretty well prepared to take up any subject is substantiated by her association with specialists at Cal. "We are constantly encouraged to specialize in certain phases and currently my prepared presentation is on textiles."

Serving Marin in her present capacity since 1956, Virginia Porter has since her high school days in Concord never had any doubts since her freshman year in high school in Concord, that her interest was in homemaking. She attended the University of California for two years and then took her degree in home economics from Oregon State College.

After graduation, she taught home economics for seven years at Fortuna High School and then worked for the Extension Service in Placer County.

After this stint she married Joseph Porter and "stayed home for 10 years." The Porters who make their home in Rafael Meadows are the parents of a son, Bill, who is a freshman at Terra Linda High School.

In her efforts to reach a wider audience, particularly the young homemakers, Mrs. Porter edits "Homemakers Notes" which includes along with valuable information all meetings and courses which are offered. She also points up the numerous pamphlets and brochures published by the Extension Service.

Marin County is fortunate to have not only a fine program to meet its own needs but also an experienced and cooperative home economist as Mrs. Porter.

LISTENING ATTENTIVELY as Mrs. Porter shows the various pamphlets and brochures published by the California Agricultural Extension Service that are available to homemakers is Mrs. Robert Hune of Novato. Mrs. Porter also conducts demonstrations and talks before community groups.

MARIN'S SOCIAL WHIRL

A Chance Meeting In Rome Results In Reunion Luncheon

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

An unexpected meeting of two Dominican graduates in Rome last month resulted in the party which Mrs. Ernie Heckscher is giving at Lakeside Country Club of the Olympic Club Sept. 27. Mrs. Heckscher, the former Sallie Cooley of San Anselmo, who toured Europe with her orchestra leader husband during August, was seated at a sidewalk cafe in Rome when she cried out "There's Jean Camp." Jean, with her husband, Dr. Shirley Baron, came over to the table to visit and Sallie said as she left: "We'll have a party as soon as I get back." Therefore she is gathering Dominican grads for the luncheon at the club. She's invited 12.

Among these from Marin will be Mesdames Betty McRae Dyson, Newton Longfellow, Norman Cary, H. R. Volin and Sallie's sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Cooley. Sallie's sister, Mrs. Carlos Freitas of San Rafael sent regrets as she will be away.

Mrs. Volin, the former Cecile Grandjean, and her husband, a colonel in the Air Force, just retired, returned from Norway three weeks ago and are living in a San Rafael apartment. He was with the NATO in Norway. Since the Volins were married at St. Paul's Church in San Rafael before World War II they have traveled all over the world, the Orient and Europe. During the war the officer flew missions in Europe. Now he is retired from the service, he is planning another career—this time in education. He has a master's degree and is taking courses at Dominican College, so his wife explains he will soon be eligible to join the Dominican graduates.

Sallie is entertaining at Saturday's luncheon of Dominican Convent Alumnae in Hawthorn Court at the convent. At her table will be Mesdames Leon Smith, Arthur Bachman, Norman Carey, Walter Shorestein and Dyson.

Ernie and Sallie jetted all over Europe and he has been filling so many engagements (he's still at the Fairmont) that he and Sallie left yesterday for Carmel for several days of rest. Just before he and Sallie took off for Europe he flew to Pennsylvania to conduct the orchestra at a debut party at Rolling Rock, the fabulous country club near Pittsburgh. He has also been providing the music for many of the parties for debs in the San Francisco Bay Area, as Ernie, also a former San Anselmo, is tops in his profession, The Heckshers have one son, Earl,

DEBUTANTE BALL SLATED FOR MARIN

The Marin Debutante Ball will soon become an actuality.

The go-ahead for this outstanding event for Marin County was given by members of the Marin General Hospital Auxiliary who met at luncheon yesterday at the home of Mrs. Eugene Wheary in Rolling Hills, Belvedere.

Date and place are still tentative. A committee will meet for luncheon on Wednesday, Sept. 27 at the home of Mrs. Harrison McNear Leppo in Mill Valley, president of the auxiliary, to formulate plans. A group of longtime residents will be invited to act as an advisory committee.

who is in his second year at Menlo College.

TO CELEBRATE the forty-eighth wedding anniversary of the Rudolph Schraders of San Francisco their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Crocker of San Rafael gave a dinner in their honor last night at Chart Room at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant. Most of the 22 guests were San Francisco friends of Mr. and Mrs. Schrader. Relatives included his brother, Herbert Schrader of San Francisco, and his wife, and her brother, Fred Doerr, who came all the way from Wyoming for the celebration. He owns two hotels in Yellowstone National Park and operates one of these, the Mammoth. Also present was Herb's mother, Mrs. A. B. Crocker of San Francisco.

IN THEIR DELIGHTFUL new home in Tara Hills, just above Rolling Hills in Tiburon, Mr. and Mrs. John O'Brien (Jack) Cullen are entertaining at a large cocktail party Oct. 1. The Cullens, who have one son, Brian, were married in Honolulu and lived there for 11 years afterward. They came here from the islands and lived in an older house they had bought until the one in Tara Hills was completed.

THE RICHARD JACKSONS of San Rafael have returned from Kansas. They drove there to enroll their daughter, Maeanne, at St. Mary of the Plains in Dodge City. With them was their son, Tom, a seventh grader at St. Raphael's School. On their return Patricia Jackson's mother, Mrs. George Shields, entered Ross General Hospital for eye surgery. She is much improved and will return home tomorrow.

JUNIOR LEAGUERS of Marin Unit welcomed a new member, Mrs. Russell Jordan of Ross, at the luncheon meeting Wednesday at the Rafael Racquet Club. Mrs. Jordan formerly lived in San Francisco.

YOUR HOUSEHOLD

There Are Ways Of Cutting Unnecessary Noise In Home

The mixer and blender grind away in the kitchen. Dad's power saw runs full tilt in the basement. Junior shoots it out with the TV bad man in the living room, while upstairs, sister plays her favorite rock 'n' roll record for the sixth time.

Does this sound familiar? Probably so, if yours is typical of most American households. There's simply too much noise around for comfort.

These common everyday sounds may be individually tolerable, but when they all combine together, they create an irritating racket. Nerves become frayed and tempers flare.

Household noise is nothing new. However, with the influx of more and more noise-making equipment—particularly in the kitchen—the situation is becoming critical.

Appliances are not the only causes. The "open planning" concept in residential construction—with fewer interior partitions and numerous hard interior surfaces—is also to blame.

These hard surfaces contribute to noise by permitting sound waves to bounce back and forth in the room. As these reflected waves overlap and mix together, the noise level increases, and hearing becomes difficult.

The solution is not to give up the items which make home-making chores easier, but rather to treat certain surfaces so they can absorb sound waves instead of reflecting them.

Draperies, curtain and up-olstered furniture provide some sound absorption within the room. These may be insufficient, however.

Until recently, there was little that could be done about the ceiling. A wide range of acoustical ceiling tiles have been designed to "soften" the ceiling and make it sound-absorbent.

Hospital Menu Suits Gourmets

CHICAGO (UPI)—The food is "something" to write home about at a new hospital in suburban Melrose Park.

Patients at Gottlieb Memorial Hospital select meals from a menu that includes frogs' legs, sirloin steak, rock cornish hen and rib roast as standard items.

What's more, meals are served when the patient wants them. Breakfast, for example, is served from 7 a.m. to 9, as in many hotels.

Patients indicate the hour they prefer to be served at the time they choose their menu for lunch and dinner of one day and breakfast the next morning.

The hospital also tries to personalize its menu, providing birthday cakes and special parties on request.

Quick

NEW YORK (UPI)—Fresh corn saute takes only minutes to make. Saute 3 cups of fresh corn kernels (6 ears) in 3 tablespoons of butter or margarine for 5 minutes. When corn is tender and lightly brown, add ¼ cup of sweet cream, ¼ teaspoon each of celery and garlic salt, pepper to taste and 1 small green pepper, finely chopped. Heat to serving temperature. Serves 6.

Reduce Friction

If cords on traverse rods are coated with a thin layer of petroleum jelly, they will work more smoothly. The jelly reduces the friction where cords travel over pulleys and cuts wear.

Junior Dances Begin Friday In Sausalito

Junior dances sponsored by the Sausalito Woman's Club will start Friday evening at the clubhouse. Open to all seventh and eighth graders in Sausalito, the dances have long been a special feature of the club's community projects.

Prest and Meyer Friedman, refreshments, and Jerome A. Adams, clean-up. Mr. and Mrs. David Belrose will be master and mistress of ceremonies for the season.

The children who will act as hosts and hostesses for the group at the first dance will be Coulter Adams, Matthew Prest and Elaine Churchill and Martha Crowell.

Writing Streak May Afflict Freshmen

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UPI)—Memo to parents of college freshmen:

Expect your son or daughter to develop some homesickness during the first weeks and maybe months at school.

Expect also to hear from son or daughter regularly at first. But as the pressures of college life increase, each will become a less reliable correspondent.

These are among hints in a parents' guide produced by the University of Rochester.

Other hints: Some freshmen are slow starters. Remember that they have the whole year to reach the minimum record. In nearly all cases they attain higher averages in June than in January.

Don't be concerned if your youngster has not made a vocational choice or decided on a field of specialization. He has at least until the middle of his sophomore year to make this decision, and counseling is available to him.

Don't be surprised if your son or daughter changes his educational and vocational objective during his college experience. Fully half of the undergraduates make at least one such change as they develop intellectually.

If your youngster changes his mind as he fumbles for his place in college and in the world, he will need your sympathy and understanding. Little good can be done by forcing a student to continue in a program which he finds distasteful.

The guide urged parents to "inform us about anything that might help us to work more effectively with your son or daughter." It noted that parental cooperation "is invaluable to us as we try to help each student to have a profitable and happy college experience."

Knit Fashions

Knit fashions require the most careful selection of the right underpropps. Bras and girdles must give smooth longer lines rather than curvy emphatic ones. A high top girdle which nips in the waist, for example, and makes the hips proportionately more curvaceous, would be the wrong foundation to wear under knits.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The sales of notion products in department stores and other outlets are reaching record highs — over $600 million a year.

The National Notion Association reports that sales will continue to rise from three to six per cent throughout 1962 in pace with the rest of the economy.

Laura Is A Victim Of Early Marriage, Now Under Stress

I want you to meet "Laura," a victim of an early marriage. Laura is an old friend of mine. I took her for walks when she was three. She was the cutest little girl you ever saw.

Laura, her husband, and their baby live in a dingy remodeled garage. It is at the back of an old house in a slum. They can't afford anything better. Laura's husband works only three days a week. The rest of the time he loaf around the home, drinking. He is 19. Laura is 18. Their baby is a year old. Laura is pregnant again.

Laura and her husband went steady when she was 15. They were bright and happy. They had many friends and enjoyed school. They were busy going to football games, parties and dances. They lived in the wonderful world of teen-agers. Life was fun then. Laura was only 16 when they married. They were not forced to, as some couples are. They had a big church wedding. They were the envy of all their gang. For a few weeks they lived up on Cloud Nine.

Then thud: Reality caught up with them. Laura's husband went to work. The best job he could get was poorly paid. Laura had a home to care for. She became pregnant, with much morning sickness. They had bills to pay. They never saw their friends. No parties now. No games, no dances. It was work and worry, work and worry all the time.

They started quarreling. Love went out the window. Now Laura hates her husband, and he hates her. He drinks constantly, she occasionally. Their parents can't afford to help them. They'll divorce soon, I'm sure.

Do you know a teen-age girl thinking of early marriage? Then tell her about Laura. Perhaps she'll learn the lesson she needs.

Choice Of Mattress Means Consideration

By JOYCE SCHULLER
CHICAGO (UPI)—The choice of a good mattress involves numerous considerations.

Innerspring mattresses are tops for durability and comfort, while the chief advantage of a foam rubber mattress is that it requires no turning. Foam rubber also may be the best choice for allergy sufferers; it is odorless and has no irritating particles of hair, feathers, down or dust.

Synthetic foam, generally referred to as polyurethane, while not as firm as foam rubber in a mattress, is considerably cheaper and said to be more durable than genuine foam rubber.

One of the chief drawbacks of foam rubber mattresses—their tendency to sag at the borders when anyone sat on the edge of the bed—now has been eliminated. One major manufacturer has come up with foam rubber mattresses reinforced at the borders.

Bedding experts for the company advised using matching box springs with both foam rubber and innerspring mattresses, but for different reasons. They point out that foam rubber mattresses tend to be thinner than innerspring mattresses and consequently require a specially-made box spring to bring them up to standard height. It's even more vital to use a matching box spring with an innerspring mattress, say the experts. It provides firmer support and permits perfect alignment of the coils in both spring and mattress, which doubles the life of the mattress.

More tips from the experts: When shopping for a mattress, lie on it to see how it feels; sit on the edge to see that there isn't excessive sag.

Choose an innerspring that's a little too firm rather than too soft, particularly when buying a mattress for two. A mattress is a long-term investment which will be used for years after it "gives" a little.

Inspect borders, handles, seams and ticking material of an innerspring mattress for quality construction. Feel the surface to see whether you can detect the coils underneath. If you can feel the coil construction with your hand, the mattress will be uncomfortable.

CHARITY BALL WILL MARK 30TH YEAR

Remarks That Make Dieter's Blood Sugar Reach Boiling

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

Sound familiar? "They'll be whistling at you one of these days, Mabel."

"How many pounds have you lost since yesterday?"

"But the Mayo diet lets you have two eggs for breakfast."

"One drink won't hurt you. My doctor says not to follow these things out the window—builds up stress."

"Are you sure you're not losing too fast?"

"Were your parents fat too?"

"I envy your being able to gain. I just stuff myself with malted and French fries and I can't put on an ounce."

"But darling, we love you the way you are."

"It's not the calories, Mabel, but the way the energy is utilized that counts."

"If you want a really good diet, let me give you one I tried last year. Lost scillions of pounds. Oh, you can't tell from looking at me now, but it's really good. I'm going back on it next week."

"Well, what are you eating for lunch today—lettuce leaf under glass?"

"But my diet book says you can have salt."

"No food in moderation will put on fat. Now you just try a teensy piece of my chocolate pie."

"You don't need to diet. Just get plenty of exercise."

"I hope you aren't exercising along with it. Exercise'll only give you an appetite."

"The only exercise you should do regularly is push back from the table three times a day. Ha ha."

"My dear, no one diets at my dinner table. So just forget it for tonight."

Find Many Uses For Paper Boards

JOLIET, Ill. (UPI)—Cardboards from freshly laundered shirts can be useful in countless ways. Here are some uses suggested by the American Institute of Laundering:

Cut or peel fruits or vegetables for salads on them. The boards absorb juices and make a sturdy wrapping to fold the peels in for disposal.

The boards are stiff enough to hold sweepings when no dust pan is available. When building or remodeling a house they're particularly handy for picking up wood shavings, plaster and mud tracked inside.

When painting, use them to shield windows from excess paint, or as "splatter boards" under paint cans.

Set under potted plants to protect the painted or varnished window sill. Use for picture backing when mounting photographs or prints.

Keep a stack on hand for the children, who can use the boards for coloring, making puzzles and stencils or for building card houses.

If Things Go Wrong Be On Right Side Of Subtle Line

Most men, if they look back on their lives as teen-agers, shudder when they think what might have happened if . . . We doubt there is a single father who would stand idly by and allow his son to do every single thing that he did as a boy.

It is only natural for youth to be thoughtless, for youth to take a chance, for youth to be discontented with things as they are and do strange things to change them, if only momentarily.

Yet there is a subtle line between what is likely to get a young fellow into big trouble or little trouble if things go wrong. The trick is to recognize the line.

All this comes to mind as we contemplate the fate of four San Francisco youths, three 17 years old, one 16, who were found guilty of causing the death of a Ross eighth grade teacher on the streetcar tracks last April.

These four decided to fight a battle against sexual deviates, and they chose a strange way to do it. They picked out a man strolling by himself, walked up to him and asked, "Are you queer?"

A young teacher whom no such taint had ever touched might well react violently to such a suggestion. He did. In the ensuing scuffle, he was knocked unconscious and left on the tracks where he was hit by a streetcar.

We have no way of knowing what previous experiences these four, together or individually, might have had with "queers." Perhaps they had good reason to wage a personal war against them. But they were taking the law into their own hands for fun. They planned to form a ring around a homosexual and taunt him. Their ridicule was great sport for them and, they imagined, probably was effective in normalizing the life of the man.

But things didn't go according to plan. The man lay there on the ground. He was hit by the streetcar. He was dead. And they were arrested.

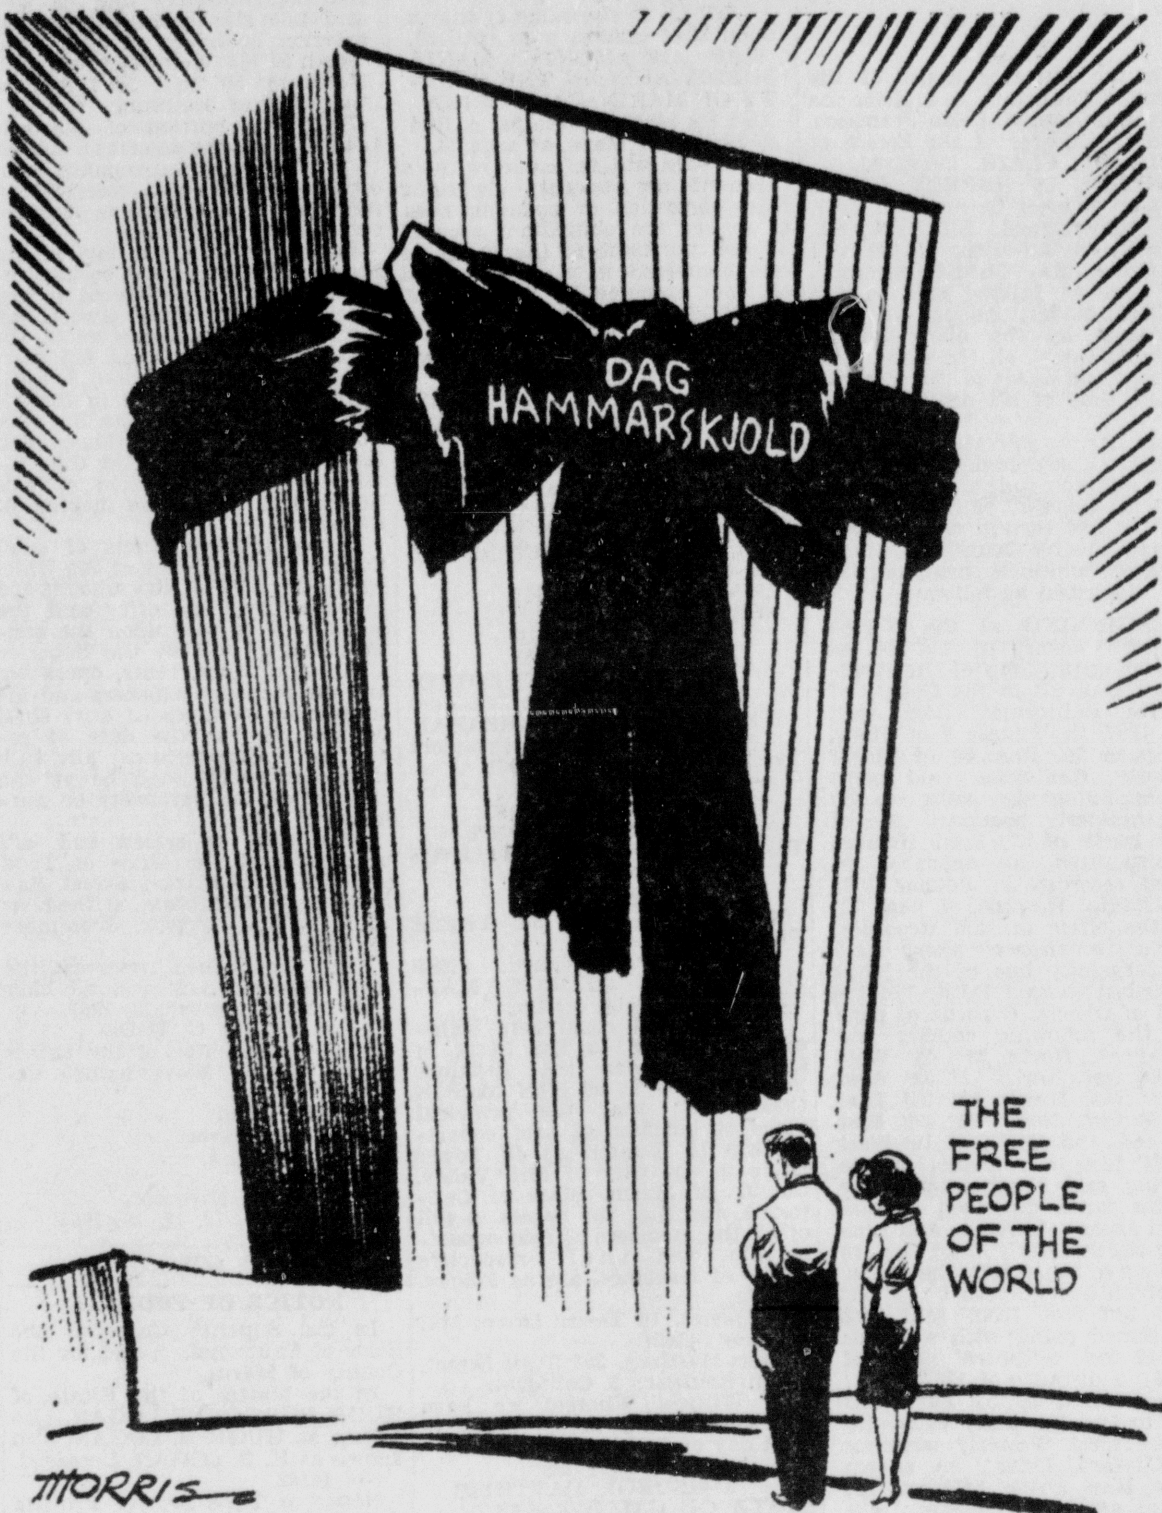

Now they are convicted murderers. Four boys who probably said, "What'll we do tonight?"

It wasn't a murder plan, it wasn't a robbery plan. There "just wasn't anything to do" that night. And they had gotten onto the wrong side of that subtle line of big trouble.

Every father should talk to his son about this case. It's the type of thing that becomes a possibility each time someone says, "What'll we do tonight?"

And there are many other activities which also get just over to the wrong side of that subtle line.

Excavation Rules Worth Passing

EDITOR, Independent Journal:

We have mailed the following letter: Board of Supervisors County Courthouse

On July 11, the Planning Commission passed a resolution for an Excavation Ordinance amending Ordinance 264, repealing Ordinance 815. Subsequently your board acted favorably on this new amendment. However, it did not receive the required advertising to make it legal.

Quote from the preamble to the proposed ordinance: "The commission finds that the public necessity, convenience, and general welfare, do require this amendment."

Under "D" Article 4 of the amendment, there is provision to defray the major portion of inspection expense: "A fee of five dollars plus the amount determined by the Department of Public Works to recompense the actual cost of inspection and supervision as may be necessary if the amount of material to be moved exceeds five hundred yards."

Even if there was a slight cost in taxes, it would be an investment in preventing the loss of the county's valuable scenery. We urge you to review this very excellent amendment and take the necessary steps to make it a working protection to the welfare of the County of Marin.

Scooter Ban On Highway Outrage

EDITOR, Independent Journal:

I think that the banning of motor scooters on freeways is an outrage. Scooters can easily keep up with all traffic that is within the speed limit. Commuters pay taxes, and taxes go to the building of roads. I think that scooters have as much right to the open road as do other automobiles, motorcycles and trucks.

I live in Mill Valley, work in Sausalito, and depend on my motor scooter to get to and from work. It is now impossible for me to get to work without violating the law.

What next? Will pedestrians be denied the right to walk on the sidewalk in heavily populated areas.

In Spite Of 'No New Taxes' Claims Employers Will Have To Pay More

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Despite administration claims there were "no new taxes" imposed by the 1961 legislature, employers of California, effective Jan. 1, 1962, will start paying more money to keep the unemployment insurance, with its added benefits, under way.

Formerly, employers were not required to pay taxes on salaries above $3,600 per year. Now, however, they will be required to pay on salaries up to $3,800 annually. It is difficult, because of the involved mathematical provision of the Unemployment Insurance Act, to figure just how much this will cost employers, but the added burden will run into millions of dollars.

ADDITIONALLY, the maximum rate for all rated employers, those with three years or more of experience, will jump from 3.2 per cent on the total payroll, to 3.5 per cent, a matter of a few more millions.

The legislature in bills signed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown gave employers another left-handed assist. The "extended duration" tax was repealed. This amounted to two-tenths of one per cent. But to replace this special tax, the proceeds of which were used to extend benefits from 26 weeks to 39 weeks, the legislature jumped the ante five-tenths of one per cent!

OF COURSE, some concerns will benefit from the legislative action. Merit rating, the means whereby employers with good reserves get lower rates, will be preserved, at a minimum of 1.7 per cent tax on the merit rated employer.

"Had the revenue raising provisions of the code not been amended," says a press release from Department of Employment, "experience ratings, which have been an important part of California's unemployment insurance system since its inception, would have been abolished."

The legislature imposed another regulatory provision in the code, which probably belongs in the Fair Employment Practices Act. This provision makes it unlawful for an employer to engage in specified discriminatory employment practices against any individual between the ages of 40 and 64, solely on the grounds of age.

THE DEPARTMENT says policy directives "protect and safeguard the right and opportunity of such workers to seek, obtain and hold jobs without discrimination because of age."

A policy of hiring workers over 40, if this can be done, certainly is meritorious on the part of an employer. There is a question, of course, as to whether such programs should be accomplished on the basis of co-operation. The latter has been the policy for the past 25 years. But now, government finds it can force almost anything on an employer, so continues to build up the socialistic state by force.

THE FIRST STEP in covering agricultural workers with unemployment insurance, which labor has been trying to do for years, was accomplished by the legislature, which in effect an ex post facto law, prohibited by the constitution in requiring reports from agricultural employers back to Jan. 1, 1960. The legislature brought agricultural employees in the system for disability insurance alone.

It takes little imagination to figure that the next step will be to bring these same employees under the unemployment insurance system.

They were reading a cranky old plutocrat's will, and nobody listened more intently than his spendthrift, loose-living nephew. Finally the lawyer reached the clause concerning said nephew. It went like this: "To my disrespectful nephew Wilbur, whom I promised to remember: Hi, there, Wilbur!"

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

Don't Look On Redwood Highway As A Marin Evacuation Route

With all of the talk about civil defense and the possibility of an evacuation, we have decided one thing — to use the Redwood Highway from San Rafael to Novato as an evacuation route is simply out of the question.

After only a few days of traveling that route daily and seeing the congestion when regular commuter traffic tries to use it, we can make that statement without fear of contradiction.

Then after one sees a couple of minor accidents on the road, one would never doubt it.

When one considers how the highway becomes clogged in trying to handle a few thousand cars daily in a routine manner, how could anyone consider trying to use it in an emergency?

American motorists enroute to work are enough of a hazard. What would happen if everyone tried to get out on to the highway during an evacuation? It would be mass suicide.

Even if Mr. Khrushchev phoned up Mayor Christopher and said that he had just sent a bomb over to destroy San Francisco and that it would be there in 30 minutes, the highway couldn't handle the traffic.

Probably America will get 10 to 15 minutes warning from radar that a bomb is approaching. Think of trying to move 200,000 cars from San Francisco and 40,000 from Marin County over that highway as it goes from two to three lanes and back again.

With a panicked American motorist at the wheel, it would be safer to face the bomb.

UP IN SAN JOAQUIN County, an idea was tried out over Labor Day weekend that we hope catches on elsewhere.

All over the main highways leading from the vacation spots of the Mother Lode country to the town of Clements, there were signs advertising free coffee and ice tea.

The San Joaquin County Zonta Club with the safety councils of Escalon, Lodi, Manteca, Ripon, Stockton and Tracy put out the free refreshments.

Motorists stopped and had a break during their drive home. This relaxed them so that they were more alert as their drive neared its end.

How many people are alive today because of it?

That's just like asking how many children can walk because of the Salk vaccine.

WE KNOW THAT this is the deer season for the coastal area. All over Marin County, hunters are going out by dawn's early light and tramping over the steep hills looking for the spry animals.

We wonder what they would say if they had seen the four point buck in the parking lot in the Twin Oaks Apartments in Fairfax or the big doe that was casually walking across Reichert Avenue in Novato just a block away from the business district?

We'd wager that the hunters would be tempted to take a 'casual shot at them and blame it on a backfire from a car if they were caught.

WALTER LIPPMANN

U.S., Soviets Might Go Too Far In Provoking Each Other Into War

WASHINGTON—It used to be said of the British naval commander in the First World War that if he made a mistake, he could lose the war in an afternoon. Khrushchev and Kennedy can do that now.

In a few hours Khrushchev can lose the Soviet state and the achievements and the promises of the Communist economy; Kennedy can lose the constitution and the free enterprise system and the American way of life, and along with them all the frontiers, old and new.

In saying this my object is not to add to the general creepiness. But we cannot understand the realities of the Khrushchev-Kennedy encounter unless we remind ourselves that nuclear war is not just another war as history describes wars, but a wholly new order of violence.

BECAUSE THE destructive-ness of the new armaments is equal and virtually absolute, neither of the two chiefs of government can threaten the other with such a war. As long as each has kept his own armory of weapons in order, neither can or need believe the nuclear threats of the other.

In cold blood, no government can, no government will start a nuclear war with an equal nuclear power. Only a moral idiot would press the button.

The poor dears among us who say that they have had enough and now let us drop the bomb have no idea what they are talking about. They have not been able to imagine and realize what a nuclear war would be like.

BUT GOVERNMENTS know quite well what a nuclear war would be like. That is why there is bluff at the core of any threat to initiate a nuclear exchange.

Nevertheless, though a nuclear war would be lunacy and is unlikely, it is an ever-present possibility. Why? Because a nation can be provoked and exasperated to a point where its nervous system cannot endure inaction, where only violence can relieve its feelings.

This is one of the facts of life in the middle of the Twentieth Century. There is a line of intolerable provocation beyond which the reactions are uncontrollable. The governments must know where that line is and they must stay well back of it.

Both sides, we had better realize, are capable of miscalculating where that line is. Khrushchev, who has no sufficient experience of a state whose speech is free, is prone to think that Kennedy can and should control an explosion of popular feeling.

For our part, we are prone to suppose that because speech is strictly regimented in the Soviet Union, there are no irresistible internal pressures on Khrushchev. Both of these can be dangerous illusions.

THIS BEING the nuclear age, it is the paramount rule of international politics that a great nuclear power must not put another great nuclear power in a position where it must choose between suicide and surrender.

The corollary of this rule is that no great nuclear power must put itself in a position where it has more such absolute and such rigid stipulations that it can no longer negotiate an honorable and tolerable accommodation.

Actor Fredric March, 64, Gives A Recipe For Keeping Youthful

NEW YORK (AP)—"The best way to stay young," said Fredric March, "is to regard the world as a workshop."

At 64, March, still physically trim and one of the handsomest men in show business, has no desire to sit in a front porch rocker waiting for Uncle Sam to send him his Social Security check.

Neither he nor his wife, Florence Eldridge — for a generation they've been one of the nation's best known theatrical couples — plans retirement, or regards it as a rainbow blessing.

"Maybe the youngsters have time to daydream about retiring," said March. "But not us."

"We're tapering off a little, but we both feel that if we don't keep growing by trying new things we'll vegetate — and that is no existence.

"I feel sorry for business men who are retired automatically. To have to close your desk on your 65th birthday, when you are really the same you were the day before — that is tragic.

"It is better to taper off, to let go gradually."

It is hard to see where March is tapering off. Winner of two Academy awards, he recently completed his 65th film, "The Young Doctors." He is now rehearsing for a role in the new Broadway play, "Gideon," which may be his 81st or 101st stage vehicle.

"I'm not sure which it is,"

he said. "I never kept track of them."

March switched to acting after he found a youthful career as an embryo bank executive stultifying. An attack of appendicitis gave him the leisure, while recuperating, to decide to gamble on a life in the theater.

It proved a rewarding choice in more ways than one. As a film matinee idol March played against most of the top feminine stars of his time, ranging from Clara Bow to Tallulah Bankhead, Greta Garbo and Kim Novak.

As long ago as 1937 the U. S. Treasury listed him as the fifth top-salaried man in the nation. He got $484,687 that year.

His 40-plus years in the entertainment field have given March some theories on survival.

"TO LAST YOU have to keep healthy in body and mentally alive," he observed. "You have to keep interested in other people, and to remember that you are no bigger an actor than you are a person."

"I think it's unwise if you become too involved in just the amusement world. You warp yourself as a person if you do. That is a pitfall to avoid."

"THE MORE INTERESTED you become in others the better you become in your own job."

The boredom and ennui that afflict some actors hasn't touched March, and he doubts that it ever will. He added:

"Acting can be a very healthy life. Many actors live to be quite old, and as for actresses—well, they seem to last forever."

"The Great Sebastians," the first play of the current season by the Ross Valley Players, will go on stage at The Barn, Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross, for three consecutive weekends beginning Oct. 12.

Directed by Charles Sayres, the play deals with the adventures of two vaudeville troupers filling an engagement with a mind reading act in Prague, Czechoslovakia, in 1948. Taking the lead roles, made famous by Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontaine in the original Broadway production, are Lionel Stott and Jane Watts.

Sets are designed by Arthur Edwards. Others in the cast include Dr. Ted Schuster, Harry Mack and Barbara Williamson.

Reservations may be obtained through Orrick Travel Bureau, San Anselmo.

U.C. Leadership
Class Is Slated

A discussion group in "Leadership in Voluntary Enterprise" sponsored by University of California Extension will open on Sept. 27 at 7:30 p.m. in Room 70, Business Education Building, College of Marin.

The discussions by leaders of service clubs, church groups, political and civic organizations will be directed by Mrs. Midge Wilson, former social worker in Solano and Contra Costa Counties.

The U.S. Naval Observatory in Washington has been keeping the nation on time since its founding in 1844.

CHOSEN FOR NATIONAL DAIRY SHOW

Joan Carrillo, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carrillo of 2756 Novato Boulevard, Novato, has been selected to attend the National Dairy Show at Waterloo, Iowa, as one of four California 4-H Club members sponsored by the American Guernsey Cattle Club. Her cow, Casa De Carrillo Twinkle, reserve grand champion of the California State Fair, has been sent ahead for showing at the Utah State Fair, then at the National Dairy Show. So Joan poses with a "look-alike" stand in for Twinkle from the Carrillo herd. She'll attend the National Dairy Show on Oct. 3.

2,245 Cal-Vet
Loans Made In Marin County

The number of Cal-Vet loans made by the State Department of Veterans Affairs in Marin County was 2,245 at the end of the 1960-61 fiscal year. Veterans Service Officer W. P. Duhamel announced today.

The loans represent an investment of $24,060,000 in property purchases for veterans and their families, he said. One farm loan was made in the amount of $24,061.

Within the two types of loans, he pointed out, there are active contracts (those still in force) and those already paid off by veteran purchasers. There are 1,651 active home loan contracts in the county, while 594 have been paid off.

The loans are made to qualified "California veterans," who must have entered wartime service from the State while bona fide residents of California. Loans range up to $15,000 on the purchase of a home and up to $40,000 for the purchase of a farm.

Veterans repay the loans at low interest rates, currently 4 per cent, and the program is self-supporting.

William M. Fleming, 34 Meadow Way, Fairfax, has been awarded an Elks National Foundation grant of $800 to help finance his physical therapy studies for treatment of cerebellar palsy at Stanford University, William G. Grant, exalted ruler of the San Rafael Elks Lodge announced today.
